Phone Loans Readied

... REA Reports

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Rural Electrification Administration expects to swing into action shortly on its rural telephone loan program.

REA disclosed today that conferences have been held during the last few weeks with rural leaders, telephone company representatives, farm organization officials and others to discuss application forms for loans, policies and general procedure.

Tentative drafts have been prepared but REA declined to predict when the final forms will be announced. They added an announcement may come soon.

INQUIRIES POUR IN

Inquiries about the rural telephone loan program, authorized by the last session of congress, have reached REA from all but five states. These were listed as New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maryland and Delaware.

REA officials told a reporter that the inquiries, many in the nature of informal applications, include about 700 from established rural telephone companies. The remainder are about equally divided between new groups and individual farmers who are interested in getting telephone service.

The last session of congress authorized $25,000,000 to get the program going.

National Report

ACREAGE OF WHEAT SMALLER

1950 Yield Of Winter Variety Is Estimated At 88.1658,000 Bu.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The agriculture department predicted today a 1950 winter wheat crop of 884,658,000 bushels.

This is 17,010,000 bushels less than this year's winter wheat crop of 901,668,000 bushels. The estimate compares also with the 1948 winter wheat crop of 1,007,863,000 bushels and a 10-year (1938-47) average of 725,533,000.

No forecast was given for spring wheat inasmuch as it will not be planted until next spring. But assuming a spring crop of the goal of around 200,000,000 bushels, the entire 1950 production would be 1,084,658,000 bushels.

By comparison, the total production of wheat this year was 1,114,000,000 bushels.

Condition 88 Per Cent

The acreage seeded to winter wheat for harvest next year was estimated at 53,023,000 acres, compared with 62,372,000 acres seeded for this year's crop and 47,113,000 for the 10-year average.

The indicated yield per seeded acre was put at 16.7 bushels, compared with 14.5 last year and 15.2 for the 10-year average.

The condition of the winter wheat crop as of Dec. 1 was reported 88 per cent of normal compared with 82 a year ago and 79 for the 10-year average.

Reports indicate, the department said, that 69 per cent of the 1950 seeded acreage will not be harvested for grain. This compares with 11.1 per cent last year and 11.1 for the 10-year average.

Drivers Exams On Tuesday, Friday

Drivers license examinations will be given at the Lancaster county courthouse every Tuesday and Friday during 1950. Examinations will be at the courthouse during regular business hours on those days.

It was incorrectly stated earlier that the exams would be given on Thursday.

Vets' Aid Ruling

Santa Booms Rooftop Rebuke To A Little Boy

MEDFORD, Mass.—(AP)—The voice of Santa Claus boomed from a rooftop.

"What do you mean I'm not real?" A little tyke in the crowd gazing up at the spotlighted Santa winced.

He had been telling his little friends, "He ain't real—all he does is stand there."

The voice called out again: "Johnny Williams, why do you tell your little friends such things? Of course Santa is real and he'll come to visit good boys."

That was the clincher. Johnny Williams now is a firm believer.

The voice was that of Alderman George F. Callahan thrown from his living room through a loud speaker rigged to Santa.

Two Planes, Airport Lost

... In Fairbury Fire

FAIRBURY, Neb.—(AP)—The Fairbury municipal airport was destroyed by fire Tuesday.

Two small planes inside the 65 by 80 building also were destroyed but firemen were able to save the adjacent administration building.

Firemen were hampered by a brisk north wind and the fact there was no water supply available other than the water carried over most of the western and northern parts of the state Tuesday morning. A freezing drizzle was reported in the extreme east.

Airport Manager Bob Smith said the fire apparently was started by a coal furnace, a draft tossing sparks into the grass just outside the wall, the flames spread to the building and burned it down quickly. By mid-morning only two of the stone walls remained standing.

Loss estimates were not immediately available.

The Fairbury airport was to have been one of the stops of midwest airlines on a route opening today. However weather conditions postponed the initial flight over the Omaha-North Platte leg indefinitely.

U.S. Lady Envoy In Denmark

Mrs. Anderson, A Full Ambassador, Welcomed To Her New Position

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—(AP)—America's first woman ambassador, Mrs. Eugene Anderson, was greeted today by 3,000 Danes who braved the morning cold to watch her arrival to take up her diplomatic post here.

The lady envoy was met by officials of the Danish foreign ministry, members of the American embassy staff she will head and a group of cheerfully curious male ambassadors.

The 40-year-old woman from Red Wing, Minn., is taking her first public office—filling the vacancy left by former Ambassador Josiah Marvel, jr., who resigned several months ago.

She got her first taste of the new diplomatic life at a huge champagne cocktail reception at the American embassy.

Thursday she will present her credentials to King Frederik in historic old Christiansburg castle. A royal coach with brightly liveried coachman and footman will take her to the interview. Then she will be received in private audience by Queen Ingrid.

Mrs. Ambassador (that's what they've decided to call her, since ambassador means the wife of an ambassador) arrived this morning aboard the Danish ship Jutlandia with her artist husband, Joseph P. Anderson, her 15-year-old daughter, Johanna, and her 11-year-old son, Hans.

Nebraska Is In Grip Of Frigid Wave

Snow, Freezing Rain Wednesday's Forecast

Old Man Winter blew his icy breath over Nebraska today as a cold wave gripped the state.

Light snow, accompanied by rapidly dropping temperatures fell over most of the western and northern parts of the state Tuesday morning. A freezing drizzle was reported in the extreme east.

Temperatures at noon included Sidney, 9; Scottsbluff, 11; Chadron, 7; Norfolk, 13; Grand Island, 15; North Platte, 12; Omaha, 21; and Lincoln 19.

Some Icy Roads

The snow had stopped falling at all points except Sidney and Grand Island by noon.

Road surfaces, with the exception of two icy segments, were reported as "generally O.K." by State Highway Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin. The two icy segments were U. S. 20 between O'Neill and the junction of U. S. 81, and state route 14 north of Neligh.

Snow and occasional freezing rain in the extreme south is forecast for tonight and tomorrow. It will get colder in the east and south central tonight, but the west is expected to warm up tomorrow.

Warmer Week End

The extended forecast carried a little more encouraging note. It called for a rising trend Saturday and Sunday, but said throughout the five-day period considerable cloudiness might be expected.

Temperatures were expected to range near normal in the east and three to six degrees below normal in the west through Sunday. The normal maximum is 34 in the east and 38 in the west, with a normal minimum of 14 for this time of year. The cold will continue Friday and Saturday, the extended forecast said.

W. L. Schaumburg Named To County Attorney's Staff

William L. Schaumburg, 26, 1845 B, has been appointed as an additional deputy in County Attorney Frederick H. Wagener's office.

Schaumburg will take over the tax foreclosure duties being vacated by Arthur E. Perry, and in addition will handle juvenile and traffic offense cases. His appointment becomes effective Jan. 1, 1950. His salary will be $2,400 per year.

An additional deputy to the county attorney's office was provided by an act of the last legislature.

Wagener said Tuesday that criminal work in his office has increased 100 per cent over the last three-year period. The civil work load has also increased.

Perry's resignation will become effective March 1, 1950. His salary was $3,600 per year.

Damage Award Appealed

Richardson county today appealed to the Supreme court from a $19,570 damage award in the death of James Wittwer.

Wittwer died last March when a truck crashed through a county bridge and burned.

Diana Barrymore's Home Looted By Polite Bandits Who Bind Actor Wilcox, A Visitor

NEW YORK—(AP)—Two men with a gun bound and gagged movie actor Robert Wilcox today in Diana Barrymore's duplex apartment, police said, and made off with a mink coat, a silver fox scarf and a quantity of other loot.

Wilcox said the men were "polite to perfection" and told him: "We are on the marijuana, and we get a kick out of doing this."

The actor said he is occupying the apartment while Miss Barrymore, daughter of the late John Barrymore and herself an actress, is in a hospital recovering from the effects of a fall downstairs last week. The twice married Miss Barrymore has said she plans to marry Wilcox.

They Leave Flowers.

Alex Orr, an artist who has an apartment in the building, found Wilcox gagged with adhesive tape and bound with Miss Barrymore's nylon stockings after hearing muffled cries for help from the apartment.

Police said Wilcox told this story: The two men came to the apartment at 9:30 a. m., represented themselves as friends of Miss Barrymore, and left two dozen gladioli for her.

About 10:30 a. m., they returned, he said, produced a gun and told him: "Step inside. This is a stickup. Keep your hands up."

Nothing Missed.

While the taller of the men held the gun, Wilcox said, the other went through the apartment "like a census taker—very meticulously, missing nothing." The actor said the men kept up a constant flow of talk, telling him: "We're serious. We can't lead normal lives. We don't seem to be able to adjust ourselves."

After the apartment was ransacked, Wilcox said, the men tied him up.

Besides the mink coat, whose value was not immediately known, police said the loot included about $55 in cash, a $150 watch, a $100 camera and a suitcase.

Wilcox said the robbers missed $300 in one of his trousers pockets.

Man Discovers Three Bullet Holes In Car

Raymond Walline, who lives five miles west of Lincoln, found three bullet holes in his car Sunday night after he had left it parked in Emerald during the day. The incident was reported to the county sheriff's office Monday.

Walline said he found the bullet holes were in the two front doors and rear door. The car had been parked from 2 to 10:30 p. m.

Daily Prayer

By REV. HAROLD C. SANDALL (Grace Methodist Church.)

O God, of love and mercy: We acknowledge Thee as the giver of all good gifts. Thy love and mercy are beyond our minds to fathom. We need Thee every hour. Even in our faithfulness, Thou dost never leave nor forsake us.

Rebuke us if we keep blessings for ourselves for thou hast intended us to share with others. Put us from selfishness. Teach us the Christlike way of laying up treasure in heaven.

Quicken our sense of compassion for all who are heavy-laden and down-trodden. Open our hearts to needs about us, that the homeless may be sheltered and the hungry be fed. May we share thy concern for children born in exile and living without security of home or country.

Saved from sin to eternal life, may we be witnesses to thy saving grace, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Alger Hiss Denies He Is A Red

Perjury Defendant Contradicts

NEW YORK—(INS)—Alger Hiss quietly but firmly denied today he is, or ever had been, a communist.

The tall, spare 45-year-old former state department official also denied he ever had been "a fellow traveler" or had ever sympathized with communist ideas.

He emphatically asserted he never belonged to any organization that was a "front" for the communist party.

Previously, he had denied, as he did at his first trial on perjury charges, that he gave secret government documents to Whittaker Chambers, or any other unauthorized person, in 1937 and 1938, for transmission to a Soviet spy ring.

Hiss' testimony was virtually a blanket contradiction of the testimony of Chambers who not only branded Hiss as a communist but swore Hiss turned over to him government documents.

When shown the documents in court, Hiss denied he had given them to Chambers, or that his wife, Priscilla, had copied them for her typewriter, as Chambers had charged.

The courtroom was jammed as Hiss put into the record denial after denial of the Chambers story.

Court Upholds Wealthy Falls Citizen's Will

... $132,000 Estate

FALLS CITY, Neb.—(AP)—The battle over the $132,000 estate of Mrs. Mary E. Tiehen came to an abrupt halt in District court here Monday as a three-man court upheld the wealthy Falls City woman's will.

She had left the estate in trust to her two sons, George H. Tiehen and John Thomas Tiehen, both of Falls City, and her grandson, Howard M. Sears, jr., of Monrovia, Calif.

District Judge Virgil Fallowell of Falls City had invited District Judge Edmund Nuss of Hastings and District Judge Stanley Bertos of Wilber to sit with him as a three-man court in the case, marking the first time in the history of the court here that three judges sat in a case.

Attorneys for the two sons filed the suit to break the will, contending it violated the rule against perpetuities.

The will provides that in the event of the death of either of both sons, their shares will go to their grandchildren; in the event of the death of Howard M. Sears, jr., his share would go to his father for the latter's lifetime.

Moreover, it provides that after the deaths of the first beneficiaries and after the death of Howard Sears, sr., and the grandchildren of George and Tom Tiehen, the residue of any, would go to St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church in Falls City.

Winter To Get Official Start Here Tomorrow

Some Nebraskans will find it hard to believe, but winter will make its official entrance into the state at 10:24 p. m. Wednesday.

That is the day, weather bureau officials say, when the hours of daylight stop decreasing. The longer hours of sunlight, however, will not begin until after the first of the year.

On Friday the sun will set one minute later than the day before, but on Saturday it will come up one minute later, thus evening up the hours of daylight.

Approximately a week of this, the days will begin to get slightly longer, but few citizens will notice it. The difference, weather bureau officials say, is very slight through most of the month of January.

Couple Departs On Cruise

... Simple Ceremony

STUART, Fla.—(AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, tanned and happy, was married today to radiant Elizabeth Sloan Simpson in a simple ceremony at St. Joseph's Catholic church.

A rainbow arched in the sky as the couple entered the flower-decked wooden church for the rites. Rain clouds hovered near the town.

The Rev. Timothy J. Geary performed the ceremony which he described as "very simple and very beautiful."

The ceremony lasted eight minutes.

Both O'Dwyer and his bride were deeply moved and exchanged vows in voices hardly above a whisper.

O'Dwyer's voice could not be heard in the first row as he answered after Father Geary, "I, William O'Dwyer, take thee, Elizabeth Sloan Simpson, for better or worse, richer or poorer, in sickness and in health, until death do us part."

Miss Simpson repeated the same words in a slightly firmer voice.

She stood erect and looked at the priest as he blessed the ring, first in Latin, then in English.

Best man David Martin, general manager of the New York Athletic club, handed the ring to O'Dwyer. Miss Simpson turned and the ring was placed on her finger.

She smiled. They whispered to each other something no one could hear.

No kiss was exchanged inside the church.

The couple turned, linked arms and walked slowly down the aisle, nodding to friends.

They emerged from the church to face a bombardment of photographers' flashbulbs.

A crowd of about 400 persons outside the church pressed close around the couple.

The newlyweds entered a car, drove through the center of town to municipal docks, and boarded the yacht Almar II for an eight-day honeymoon cruise.

TRUMAN RETURNS

... From Florida Vacation

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman returned today from a three-week Florida vacation, looking fit and rested for the weeks of hard work ahead of him.

His plane, the Independence, landed at National airport about 11:30 a. m. (CST) after a three-hour, 46-minute flight from Key West.

A large crowd, including several cabinet members and other government officials, turned out to greet him. He waved cheerfully.

He was in fighting trim—except for the waistline—to do battle in congress for his "fair deal" and to stump for it in the 1950 congressional elections.

PASADENA, Cal.—(INS)—Marion Brown, a blonde and blue-eyed 19-year-old Pasadena City college co-ed, today was chosen Pasadena's fairest of the fair—the 1950 queen of the Tournament of Roses.

She became the second of her family to be chosen for rose parade royalty.

Her sister, Mrs. Lorraine Brown Franklin, wife of George Franklin, served as a princess in a former Rose parade.

Tri-County Reports A Bumper Year

For Irrigation; Maintains Huge Water Reserve

HASTINGS, Neb.—(AP)—The Central Nebraska (Tri-County) Public Power and Irrigation district, has had a bumper year for irrigation and still holds a huge water reserve.

The report on the first 10 months of the year, as released today by A. C. Tilley, chief engineer and general manager of Tri-County, showed that the North Platte river delivered some 936,000 acre feet of water into Lake McConaughy, 117 per cent of the average inflow.

(An acre foot of water—enough to cover an acre of land to a depth of one foot—is the equivalent of a day's supply for a city of 10,000 inhabitants.)

By Nov. 1 the storage content behind the big Kingsley dam was 932,000 acre feet greater than on January 1, although 768,000 acre feet was discharged during the 10-month period. The Nov. 1 total was nearly 2½ million acre feet.

Tri-County supplied irrigation water to some 83,940 acres of land, after using the water in three power houses to produce 245,404,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy.

Comparatively speaking, discharge of water from the Kingsley dam was 102 per cent of the seven-year average from 1942 and 1948. Water was diverted into the tri-county supply canal at a rate 108 per cent of the average; power production was 144 above the average production.

Above normal precipitation during March, April, May and June helped hold the water supply up despite heavy use. Holdings had 16.21 inches for the four month period compared to a normal of 10.41; Minden had 18.74 compared to a normal of 12.45; and Hastings had 18.74 compared to 11.25.

Because of this rainfall, irrigators did not need all of the water reserved for them. Water delivery schedules called for 1.33 acre feet per acre, but actually the irrigators used an average of .69 acre feet per acre.

Acres served by Tri-County water included: corn 57,919 acres or 69 per cent of the total; sugar beets 1,679 or 2; spring grain 9,653 or 11.5; field crops 1,343 or 1.6; alfalfa 9,485 or 11.3; wheat 923 or 1.1; potatoes 168 or 0.2; pasture 1,763 or 2.1; others 1,007 or 1.2.

Rifle Shooting South Of City Is Investigated

"Target shooting" near the railroad crossing a few blocks south of Twenty-seventh and Pioneer was being investigated Tuesday by the county sheriff's office.

A complaint was made by the Burlington railroad company that a "wig-wag" signal at the crossing had been damaged by rifle shots. Residents in the area have complained of ricocheting bullets from time to time.

Telephone line insulators have been broken, and telegraph lines cut, by rifle shells, Deputy Sheriff Leonard Schaefer said. The railroad "wig-wag" has often been used as a target range, he stated, and in some cases cattle in nearby fields have been hit.

Schaefer said those doing the shooting were trespassing, and would be prosecuted, if caught.

Request For Road At Agnew Referred To County Engineer

Petition for construction of two miles of road southwest of Agnew has been referred by the county commissioners to County Engineer L. W. Weaver for investigation.

The petition, signed by 16 persons, asks that the county construct a road at a point one mile south and one mile west of Agnew, the road to run two miles west.

The board also referred to Weaver the request of H. E. Sturm and George H. Bofel for construction of a street on West O.

The proposed street would run from O north to Q at a point about two blocks east of the Raymond road.

The two men stated they would donate to the county the land on which the road would be constructed.

$9,340 Accepted Bid On New City Street Sweeper

The bid of Elgin Equipment company for a new street sweeper for the city street department was approved by the city council Monday.

Elgin bid $9,340 to furnish the sweeper to the city. Anderson Equipment company bid $7,893 but the city engineer did not accept that bid, he said, because the equipment was not as good as that of Elgin.

The engineer rejected five bids received on furnishing a force-feed loader to be used by the street department. Because the city has not had a piece of equipment of this kind before the engineer will re-write his specifications and ask for new bids. The five bids received ranged between $5,875 and $8,691.

The council passed a resolution authorizing the city engineer to permit a 10 per cent discount on gas rates to users at municipal airport if the monthly bill is paid within 20 days of receipt.

Passed on third reading were two ordinances permitting the University of Nebraska to construct an underground electric transmission line and steam conduit along Sixteenth street from S to R; construct and maintain an electric transmission line between the city campus power plant to the power plant at the college of agriculture.

Also passed on third reading was the ordinance establishing color markings for curb parking, loading, bus loading zones.

The council also upheld the zoning board on five counts and voted to deny the application of H. W. Greiner, Jr., for a change in zoning to permit him to operate an automobile repair garage at Third and X.

Permit E. B. Christie to use property at 5133 Pioneers Bld., as a child care center.

Permit Oscar Helin to remodel buildings into a motel at 4431 Cornhusker highway.

Permit W. H. Hemmatt to build a garage with a 40-foot set back at 701 North Third and X.

Permit Don't Outdoor Advertising to erect a sign 100 yards south of Oak creek on the west side of North Tenth street.

Kearney Board Favors Three New Schoolhouses

KEARNEY, Neb.—(AP)—Kearney's board of education went on record here Monday night favoring the construction of three new elementary school buildings.

The board originally had planned to submit a bond issue to voters for two new buildings but their plans were revised following two special surveys.

Prof. Merle Stoneman, University of Nebraska elementary school expert, was a special visitor at the board meeting. He advised building three, instead of two, new buildings. Professor Stoneman based his opinion on a special survey of children of school, and preschool age and a Kearney school facility survey made by a special university group two weeks ago.

He advised building new schools in both the northeast and southeast sections of the city, where schools now exist, and a new building in the northwest section where there is no school.

Young Enroute To Georgia On Murder Charge

Georgia police officers Tuesday were enroute to Columbus, Ga., with custody of 25-year-old Army Corporal James H. Young who will face a first degree murder charge there.

Young, along with his wife and a brother were arrested here Saturday night in connection with the hammer slaying of a 69-year-old Columbus, Ga., piano tuner, Dec. 1.

The Georgia officers, Det. Capt. H. T. Whitley and Muskego County Sheriff E. F. Howell said that Young's bride of five months and brother are being returned as material witnesses.

After preliminary interrogations the officers said Young's brother, Kyle, would be released in Lincoln but later after additional information was ascertained decided to take him back as a witness.

Cedars Home Marks Second Anniversary

Police Matron Says It Fills Real Need

"Before establishment of the Cedars Home, children from juvenile court cases often had to be sent back to the homes that made them delinquent," Hulda Stahnke, police matron, said Monday night.

She spoke at a dinner at the Lincoln hotel marking the second anniversary of the Cedars Home, Inc.

She told the group that the home makes it possible for a child to receive immediate housing, clothing and food until he is able to "return to the normal stream of life."

From Broken Homes.

"The longer I am in this business," she said, "the more convinced I am that the mature criminal is a perfectly normal individual who has reached his status through a step by step process."

She said that nearly every adult criminal has come from a broken home.

She said the home, which is supervised by the Rev. and Mrs. Charles R. Danner, give love and security to the child who is left temporarily homeless or unwanted. She emphasized the need for helping these children and making them know that they are wanted.

She quoted a conversation between Cedars youngsters and another child at a recent party for the home in which the Cedars child: "You ought to come out. We're just happier than happy out there."

"There is your answer to the Cedars is doing in the community," she said.

$30,178 In Assets.

Ray J. Becker, treasurer, reported total assets of the home at $30,178.33. Receipts of $43,226.61 and disbursements of $41,319.36 leave a cash balance of $1,877.

Juvenile Court Judge Harry R. Ankeny, speaking to the group informally said, "The court is secure in turning children over to the Danners. It makes it possible for youngsters in a family to stay together and fills a real need in the community."

Asa B. Waters, member of the board of trustees, listed the following needs of the home:

An improved boys workshop. Wrestling mat, boxing gloves, punching bag.

Permanent sheeting for barracks. Improved staff quarters. Larger nursery. Tractor and material shed. More sidewalks. Storage for clothing. Better toilet facilities. Dish washing machine. Day tree.

Cave for vegetable storage. Outlet from cistern for fire protection.

Conditions For Minorities Are Said Unimproved

"The conditions that necessitated the introduction of the fair employment practices bill in 1941, with respect to minorities, are unchanged in Nebraska."

This was a statement by Joe Bohannon, executive secretary of the Omaha Urban League, in a speech to the Lincoln Social Service committee at a luncheon Tuesday at the Y.W.C.A.

"Using Omaha as an example," said Bohannon, "Negroes make up 20 per cent of the people who apply for unemployment compensation each month. Ninety per cent of the employed Negroes work at unskilled labor jobs or are common laborers," he added.

"It is evident to me that there is definitely employment discrimination," he said.

"Any change in employment practices will necessitate state legislation. Employers will not change their employment discrimination practices voluntarily."

Bohannon pointed out that the F.E.P.C. law would "aid employers as well as the wealth of the communities."

He concluded by saying, "Employers are afraid to take steps on their own toward hiring minority groups, recognizing that their customers might object."

$50,000 Injury Suit Filed Here

Jesse L. Overlander, of Otoe county, Tuesday filed a $50,000 personal injuries suit in Federal court here against Annabelle Mellon, Byron Reed company and Glenn H. LeDioyt.

The plaintiff alleges he was injured last summer in a scuffle with LeDioyt on the farm rented by the plaintiff from Annabelle Mellon through the Byron Reed firm of Omaha. LeDioyt is a member of the firm.

The quarrel followed an Otoe county District court order allowing Overlander the use of the land until January, 1950, the petition states.

Marsh Says He'll Take Steak Any Day

The question of which is the more delectable food—corn fed Nebraska steaks or east coast lobsters—has been settled so far as Secretary of State Frank Marsh is concerned. He promises to carry steaks with him on all future trips.

The Nebraska official was national president of the Association of Secretaries of State and presided at the recent convention in New Hampshire. One of the choice features was a lobster dinner.

"And I was lobster enough to eat it," Marsh now complains. At the time he suffered a slight attack of ptomaine poisoning. He was the 32nd of the diners to call for a doctor at the hotel. After treatment, he was able to continue his official duties.

Since his return he has not felt the best, but considered it a mild attack of flu. Saturday his physician ordered him to the hospital for examination and diagnosed his illness as a continuation of the effects of the ptomaine.

He will remain at the hospital a few days for further treatment.

Woman Suffers Fractured Knee When Hit By Car

Mrs. Lillie Tomes, 81, suffered a fracture of the knee Monday evening after being struck by a starting car when a traffic light changed as she was crossing a street.

The mishap occurred shortly after 5 p. m., as Mrs. Tomes, who lives at 135 North Fourteenth, was walking north across P street on the west side of the Tenth street intersection. A police report stated the light was in her favor when she started across.

The driver of the car, Percy Stewart, 58, 1126 North Twenty-third, police he had stopped for a red light and started into the intersection when it changed. He said he didn't see the pedestrian in front of him because of her short height.

The victim was struck by the front bumper of the car, which came to a stop almost immediately after the impact. She was rushed to St. Elizabeth hospital. She was reported in good condition Tuesday afternoon.

Public Power Post Goes To Seattle Man

... Givens Is Controller

NORTH PLATTE, Neb.—(AP)—Wm. A. Givens of Seattle, Wash., has been named controller of the Nebraska Public Power system, according to an announcement made today by Gerald Gentlemen, chairman of the board of managers.

A native of Manitoba, Canada, Givens was educated in Winnipeg and came to the United States in 1913, settling in Portland, Ore. He is a naturalized citizen by virtue of his army service in World War I.

He has been in the public utilities consulting field all of his life, operating his own firm in Portland from 1913 to 1928 and in Portland from 1929 until he accepted the Nebraska position. He will make his headquarters in Columbus.

Two New Positions.

After two years of negotiation, the joint and equal ownership of the Nebraska Public Power system by the Loup River Public Power district at Columbus and by the Platte Valley Public Power district at North Platte has been completed and creates two new positions—that of controller and that of executive director. The executive director has not yet been named. Givens' responsibility will be to keep the board of managers informed as to whether expenses are keeping in line with the approved budget and the executive director will be the chief administrative officer of the system.

The 1950 budget is $4,475,000 and Gentlemen said the system also is considering a $25,000,000 construction program.

The Nebraska Public Power system serves the Consumers Public Power district which distributes power to 350 Nebraska towns and cities; 26 REA districts; 11 municipalities and the war plants at Mead, Hastings and McCook air base.

Complaint Charges Unlawful Damage Trees, Road Signs

A four-count complaint against Kenneth L. Nace, 1125 Nance, charging unlawful damage to trees and road signs along a country road, was filed in Municipal court by Frederick H. Wagener Tuesday.

According to Wagener, the alleged damage was done last July when Nace moved a house from about seven miles southwest of Lincoln into the city.

The county previously asked Nace to pay the damages which it assessed at $325. Nace did not comply.

According to county records, the alleged damage included:

Eight concrete culvert posts, $200; three road signs, $15; one bridge plate, $10; and two cedar trees, $100.

State Awards 5 Road Contracts

Five contracts for a total of $94,232 were awarded Tuesday by the state department of roads and irrigation. Principal item is construction of eight-tenths of a mile of concrete paving in Nebraska City at a cost of $61,170.

Dugdale Construction Co., Omaha, was the low bidder. The city will pay $32,700 of the cost and federal funds will make up the balance. The improvement will be on Central avenue and Eleventh street.

Protection work at the east end of the Platte river bridge on U. S. 30 between North Platte and Maxwell will cost $17,860. Bushman Construction Co., St. Joseph, Mo., was low bidder.

South of Tecumseh on Route 50 guard rail will be installed by Rentler Co., Inc., Grand Island, at a cost of $9,457. Between Nehawka and U. S. 34 guard rail will cost $4,816 and be installed by Monarch Engineering Co., Falls City.

Between Ord and Ericson on Route 58, Platte Valley Construction Co., Grand Island, will install guard rail costing $930.

Mrs. Lora J. Morgan Dies Here Tuesday

Mrs. Lora J. Morgan, 52, died Tuesday morning at her home, 821 South Thirty-third.

Born June 23, 1897, Mrs. Morgan had lived in Lincoln since 1946. She was a member of the United Brethren church at Adrian, Mich.

Surviving are her husband, Fred J. Morgan, Lincoln; two children, Maurice Knisel, Graybill, Ind., and Mrs. Larry Border, Bellflower, Calif.

Services and burial will be at Blissfield, Mich.

NEW POSTAL RECORD

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—The Scottsbluff Postoffice set a new all-time record Monday when 41,935 letters were cancelled. Postmaster B. M. Diers said. The previous high was 36,000 cancelled Dec. 20 last year.

Courtesy Drive Stresses Consideration For Others

Plans were completed for the "first emphasis" in the courtesy campaign, consideration for others, at a steering committee meeting held Monday evening. Consideration of others will be stressed from this week through January 7.

The program committee presented a list of 22 films on courtesy available for organizations in the city and announced that Mrs. Roy Green and Don Harrington will talk before civic groups on "Courtesy As Consideration." Organizations wishing courtesy programs should contact Mrs. L. W. Boyde, chairman of the committee.

Bill Bowmaster reported that last week 1,000 posters bearing

26 More D.P.'s To Live In State

Twenty-six European displaced persons either have arrived in the state or will arrive in the next few days, local agencies reported Tuesday.

The persons, all entering the country under the national displaced persons law, were part of a group of 1,167 who arrived in New York last Saturday aboard the International Refugee Organization ship USAT General McRae.

The group includes four sheepherders who will be employed by Karl V. King at Cozad. The four men, all from Poland, make up the second group of displaced persons to arrive in Cozad to work for sheep raisers.

Also included in the new arrivals is a German family with two children who go to a farm home near O'Neill, and a family of five from Latvia who will be employed on a farm near Geneva. A Polish family of three goes to Omaha.

Mountain States Have Huge Share In Hospital Plan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Rocky Mountain states have a multi-million dollar share in the national hospital program, which is expected to result in $2,250,000,000 worth of hospital construction in the next six years.

So far applications have been received from the states of Colorado, Montana, New Mexico and Wyoming for 24 projects with a total cost of $11,935,000.

The list includes Goshen County Memorial hospital in Torrington, Wyo., a new 46-bed structure. Total cost is placed at $390,000, of which the federal government will contribute $129,999.

$563 Damages In Airplane Crash

A District court jury Monday night returned a verdict awarding $563.07 damages in an airplane crash lawsuit that had been remanded by the state Supreme court to District court for retrial.

The damages were awarded to Thomas Umberger, Carl H. Nelson and Masamitsu Ayabe, doing business as the Union Air Service, Lincoln. Defendant was Roy A. Sankey, Lincoln.

A $563.07 judgment was first awarded in Municipal court in June, 1947. It was appealed to District court and upheld by a jury in April, 1948. The case was then appealed to the Supreme court where it was returned to District court for retrial on grounds the trial court erred in instructions to the jury.

In the lawsuit, the three plaintiffs charged that the defendant was negligent when the light plane he was flying collided with a similar plane owned by them and flown by Edwin J. Hegert, a student pilot. The accident occurred in October, 1946, at the Union airport north of Lincoln.

They contended that Sankey landed cross-wind, diagonal to the traffic pattern. Both planes were gliding in for a landing at the time of the accident. The plaintiffs originally asked $563.07 damages.

Farm And Highway

That was an unexpected, surprising, but most gratifying development at Alliance late last week when the Box Butte county local of the Nebraska Farmers Union went on record as approving Governor Val Peterson's highway program, drafted by a committee of distinguished Nebraskans after months of study.

We assume that the action implies support for those revenue measures adopted by the last legislature, increasing both the gasoline tax and motor vehicle license fees.

The important thing about this action is that it indicates recognition by the members of one group within a state farm organization that if highways are to be built and a program of state dimensions to be carried forward, it will cost money. There is no conflict of opinion over the desirability of roads. They are vital—not only in the sense of an acceptable state system, but secondary roads, farm-to-market highways, connecting the farm with the main arteries. The differences develop when it gets down to the question of how to raise adequate money to do what needs to be done.

No magic will pay the bill. A farm leadership which tells its members that there is plenty of revenue, and that all that is necessary to provide Nebraska with highways is to devise a new formula for allocating present revenues, no matter how sincere it may be, is not looking the realities in the face. Available funds previous to action by the last legislature simply did not stretch sufficiently to complete an unfinished state system and to build the needed farm-to-market roads.

The Box Butte group has come forward at the right time with a brand of leadership that indicates clearly it has thought through this matter of the Nebraska highway program.

Budget Supervisor

Loren H. Laughlin brings to the new state post for which he has been selected by Governor Val Peterson, a broad, thorough knowledge of Nebraska, and its people. The job he takes was created by the last legislature to fill in a gap primarily of providing a year-around budget study for the benefit of the lawmakers and the chief executive. In the main, Nebraska has had good, efficient government. It has gotten as much for its money as any state in the union. Yet the opportunity is there for a fine service, and we are quite sure that the govern-

FACE-LIFTING IN NEBRASKA

BY J. E. LAWRENCE.

(This is the seventh of a series of articles relating to Missouri basin development, based upon notes taken during discussions in a two-day conference in Omaha.)

It takes a sweep of imagination to visualize the Nebraska of fifty years hence if a comprehensive program of Missouri Basin development is carried forward.

It will be a land of both great beauty and great utility—an agricultural state, safe-guarded to the fullest extent against the vicissitudes of periodic droughts. I looked over the maps prepared through the joint efforts of the army engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation, pinpointing contemplated reservoirs on Nebraska streams, containing hundreds of thousands of acre-feet of water, waste and flood waters stored primarily for irrigation purposes. I have seen those streams and, without too much effort, can see the lakes which will form.

First, the map revealed the plan to develop on the Elkhorn and its tributaries, with the main reservoir near Rosedale.

Additional Nebraska developments call for a reservoir on Beaver creek, near Loretto, above Albion; a third on Cedar river (a picturesque stream few eastern Nebraskans remember above Ericson, a Loup tributary) and a fourth reservoir on Davis creek near Ashton.

Also in the ultimate development, the waters of Shell creek would be stored above Schuyler.

In the Loup basin, plans include the Loup at Cushing, the Middle Loup at Mullen, coupled with developments on Buffalo and Davis creeks, and others previously mentioned.

The plans for the basin of the Niobrara river are equally comprehensive. Mirage Flats has already been finished, but tributaries, including Snake river, Bear creek, Pine creek, and Plum creek also called for contemplated developments. In the Republican valley, the over-all plan, including work now completed or under way, embraces reservoirs on the upper west Republican at Wray, the south fork Republican at Bonny, the Arkansee or Pioneer, Medicine creek near Indianola, Trenton creek, Beaver creek near Beaver City, White Rock near Lovell, and finally Harlan dam on the Republican, now under construction, Enders on the Frenchman, now near-nor and the legislature will welcome the information which a full-time budget supervisor can provide in the determination of state spending needs in the maintenance of the various activities of state government. Mr. Laughlin is a man of ability and experience and should prove a valuable aid.

Hail The New Year

American newspaper editors, among them the editor of this newspaper, have received letters from Rep. Frank Buchanan of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house select committee on lobbying activities. Mr. Buchanan wants the help of the newspapers in an investigation of Washington lobbying which will get under way shortly after the first of the year.

It's a fertile field. The committee knows, as a result of the 1947 act requiring all lobbyists to register, that there are three times as many lobbyists in the national capitol as there are members of congress, including both house and senate.

A contemporary, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, hit the nail on the head recently, in these words:

"More important than numbers in this lobbying business is method. If there is to be any eye-brow-lifting over the report of the legislative reference service to the special committee, it should be over the amounts of money involved. During the first six months of 1948, the report said, more than $3,500,000 was spent on lobbying. Nine groups or organizations had lobbying expenditures exceeding $100,000 in that period. The report cites among the especially active lobbies, those seeking tariff changes; the natural resources lobby 'in its various forms'; the real estate lobby fighting public housing; the airline lobby; the agricultural lobby; and those representing the dairy industry and the oleomargarine manufacturers."

We do not know whether numbers or expenditures are more important but it is clear that lobbying has become big business. To say that groups cannot send representatives to Washington is to be unrealistic to the extent of denying the right of petition and the opportunity for hearing. But the public is entitled to a better understanding of what actually goes on in the cocktail lounges, around the dinner tables, on the delightful weekend cruises—a better understanding of the pressures exerted in the shaping of legislation.

The eighty-first congress furnishes undeniable proof that the 1947 registration act has not served to discourage the presence of lobbyists.

We talk a lot about pressure groups, and, in the technique of legislation in which the pressure group has come to play a greater part in the shaping of government, inevitably that means larger, more active, and more powerful lobbies.

The extent to which they shape or influence legislation is a guess. We know a great many legislators, including those who accept the generous hospitality of smiling, amiable, charming lobbyist-hosts, still insist upon doing their own thinking, willing to hear all sides of the case, but uninfluenced in honest judgment.

Still we're inclined to think the pending investigation may become one of the most important undertaken in recent years. It will be fruitful only to the extent of the diligence and energy with which a special house committee pursues its duty. Out of the study should come some recommendations of value to congress itself.

Pearls Of Wisdom

Whether Rep. Eugene O'Sullivan got his advice over to his fellow democrats may be open to question, but not the soundness of what he said. He told a group of democrats in the second congressional district not to make an issue of enforcement of the gambling laws in Nebraska. How can honest enforcement of law be challenged in any law-abiding community? If the democrats want to give some thought to the matter, they can contemplate the hypocrisy of legalizing pari-mutuel betting, which in this state saw a lot of dough change hands at the race tracks.

ing completion, and the Medicine Creek reservoir above Cambridge which will be finished shortly.

Then there is the huge Plum creek reservoir on the Platte, long under consideration, well below Kingsley dam, and finally, the plan covering the lower Platte basin.

It is a truly magnificent outline to make the fullest and most beneficial use of the waters of Nebraska streams. We have no comment one way or another as to whether all this is feasible and sound. As drawn, the Nebraska program is the fruit of long engineering study. We can only conclude that the projected developments have been investigated fully by competent engineers and are found to measure up to all requirements. Completed, it would stud a plains state with artificial lakes, protect valley lands from overflow in seasons of disastrous floods, retain waters that contribute to the flood destruction in the lower Missouri and Mississippi valleys, and conserve water so sorely needed during the growing seasons in Nebraska.

The reader does not need to be told it would change these river valleys, stabilizing stream-flow every day in the year, creating opportunities for recreation long denied the people of this region. The greatest benefits, however, would come from the curbing of floods which annually inflict damage running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, make enormous amounts of water available for irrigation, and finally, produce electricity for the towns and the farms. There is ample foundation for the observation that a program of this character carried forward would create a new state fifty years hence; its agriculture resting upon an integrated program of irrigation and dry-land farming; its new supply of cheap power beckoning to industry. All over this country, people are becoming more conscious of the importance of an American plan of conservation of natural resources. That is the basis upon which Missouri Basin development rests. What is contemplated is not of sole concern to the people here. It is of national interest.

In all of this thinking, the engineering studies, the work of construction of projects already under way, and finally, the completed plan, the question is, how shall the basin and all of its works be administered? We shall discuss that phase of it again tomorrow.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

(ED. NOTE—This is the third in Drew Pearson's series of columns on tax evasion—a question of importance to every taxpayer who has to pay more as a result of deficiencies by others.)

WASHINGTON—It is not often that treasury agents turn up a tax fraud case against a big corporation. This is partly because most big corporations have their books audited by reputable firms, but also because it is almost impossible for the T-men to scrutinize carefully the complicated books of the big corporations.

The internal revenue bureau is so understaffed—thanks largely to the recent GOP 80th congress—

PEARSON maintains that Mon Wallgren (above), recently appointed to the federal power commission as a supposed liberal who would further the interests of the consumer in the matter of lower electric rates, has thus far reversed himself in favor of big private power.

that it is impossible for its agents to take enough time to go through all corporate books.

Recently, however, treasury agents stumbled into what they considered an airtight tax fraud case against the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation in Tulsa, Okla.

The case was considered so airtight that there was not the slightest doubt, they thought.

The oil company will not have to pay a tax bill of $6,000,000 plus 50 per cent penalty, as recommended by the T-men.

The reason the treasury's case against Mid-Continent was considered so airtight was that a former accountant for the company had furnished the evidence for the government.

While working for the company, he had caught it making capital expenditures for plan expansion during the war years and then charging them up as "repairs."

Mid-Continent officials gave careful instructions that the receipts and orders for the improvements be destroyed, but one of its bookkeepers just as carefully retained them and turned them over to the treasury. As a result the case was considered ironclad.

The agent who first handled this case was Frank W. Lohn, chief of intelligence for the Kansas City district. He recommended criminal prosecution and sent the case on to Mike Seltzer, chief of the penal division of the Kansas City office. But while the case was still pending in Kansas City, Daniel Bolich, deputy commissioner of internal revenue in Washington, requested a conference at Oklahoma City. This was held, and Bolich, for reasons best known to himself, came all the way to Oklahoma from Washington to participate in the conference. Lohn and Seltzer, who also participated, informed him that the Mid-Continent case should be prosecuted.

Commissioner Bolich ordered the investigation stopped and had the case transferred to Washington.

When the case reached Washington, a conference was held in Bolich's office, at which general counsel Charles Oliphant was not represented. This is highly unusual.

However, Bolich ordered it to his office and although the general counsel was not represented, the defending oil company was represented by Benjamin Saunders of the law firm of Charley Hamel.

Hamel, former head of the board of tax appeals, and formerly in the internal revenue bureau, is a republican who sometimes has been retained by leading democrats suffering from tax troubles. It was Hamel who expertly handled the income-tax cases of boss Frank Hague of Jersey City and

BIG AND LITTLE BUSINESS.

Brandon, S. D.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In our system of free enterprise, competition is supposed to regulate the prices of commodities at a reasonable level where the standard of living would be within the reach of the middle- and low-income groups. Big business has changed this. Fifty-two companies have control, by 74.3 per cent of production, in seven different lines of manufacturing. They can freeze out small competition. Veterans desiring to organize a company to be free, and independent run up against restraining hurdles. There is also some abuse of the use of patents that would be needed to manufacture the goods. This makes the veterans look upon the words "free enterprise" as a hollow mockery.

SAYS IT IS A REMINDER

South Jacksonville, Fla.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The American Medical Association has recently issued an outcry that the Department of Justice is subjecting some of its activities to investigation as a threat or frame-up because of its opposition to the administration's health insurance plan. This strongly reminds one of a like outcry a decade ago and its sorry outcome for the association.

The District of Columbia Medical Society, with its active support of the A.M.A., engaged in destructive practices against doctors serving the Group Health Associates on a salary basis. The medical associations feared the competition of this co-operative health organization of government employees to furnish its members complete medical care at a

LOOKING SIDeways

BY WHITNEY BOLTON

It's cold at 3 o'clock in the morning in Central Park. . . A light wind snakes through the bare branches of the trees and rattles them like old bones. . . Paddy is huddled up there on the box asleep and Blackie out there in the shafts is taking his time as he pulls the hack around the nearly empty paths.

There must be better things to do on a sleepless night than ride around Central Park in a carriage and make notes on envelopes every time you pass a light. . . But I can't think of any right now. . . It was that way with Sir Richard Whittington, lord mayor of London, who couldn't sleep sometimes either and used to coach around the city thinking with a pencil and tablet.

What did it get him? A poem about some silly business with a cat, a poem that is wrong and no one ever has corrected it. The poem says he was lord mayor three times. . . Wonder what song, what one song, Irving Berlin will be remembered by? . . . There was a man so brilliant that he appeared as Hamlet when he was 17 years old, he wrote 67 plays, nine books, and yet what do you remember about John Howard Payne: that he wrote one song, "Home, Sweet Home."

There's Columbus Circle, which reminds me that New York and Washington are almost the only cities which name their squares and circles correctly—like Washington are almost the only cities which name their squares and circles correctly—like Washington Square, which is, and DuPont Circle, which is. . . But in London only Soho Square is really square.

Better seal this envelope now before I lose what's in it. Hm, tastes like all the others except the envelopes sent out by that candy company when they mail you a bill and give you the envelope to mail the payment in. Those envelopes are gummed with candy-glue, not fish-glue. Maybe other companies ought to flavor their envelopes to match the product, except the oil companies. Funny how people adore flowers and exclaim over them. Yet more than 90 per cent of all kinds of flowers in the world either smell horribly or not at all.

Every time I read that critic on that morning paper I think of Thomas Macaulay, who was 5 years old when a friend of his mother inquired tenderly as to his toothache. "Thank you, madam," the little boy replied, "the agony has abated."—Stories keep creeping out of Iron Curtain countries about people jumping borders and escaping into free Europe. No correspondent ever has told how they elude the alert guards and their savage dogs. Like all seemingly impossible things, it is very simple and was used when people fleeing the Nazis managed to get into Switzerland safely: the escaping individual throws three or four cats into a sack and loses them in front of the dogs. . . Now we know that an atomic weapon has been perfected behind the Iron Curtain. How silly to worry about that when Dr. Chisholm, UN chief of world health, can stand your hair on end by saying, as he did one night recently: "The atom bomb is as obsolete today as this: as the 5-inch howitzer of World War I was obsolete to the atom bomb!" . . . What is the atom bomb obsolete to as a weapon, then? . . . Biologicals—little creatures that can be carried into an enemy country in a brief case in sufficient quantities to murder 50,000,000 persons in 24 hours! Nothing seems very important after that. Knowing that, except that the world had better find a way of running itself without a world not nationwide. . . Better take Paddy home and let him sleep in a proper bed. And get Blackie back to his warm stable. . . While beds and stables still exist.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The way in which democrats and republicans will square off in the political ring in 1950 is becoming fairly clear. The democrats seem to have determined the nature of the sparring in the first round.

They have done this by a move that, whatever its inherent virtue, is extremely shrewd strategy. Senate majority leader Scott Lucas had said that one of the first measures to be pushed will be the most touchy of all the civil rights proposals—a fair employment practices law.

At first glance this would seem to be a foolish beginning. For it will certainly touch off a southern rebellion, complete with filibuster, that is bound to get in the way of the administration program. But from the democratic point of view it does some other things.

It puts the republicans in the senate on the spot. Are they for civil rights or are they not? What's more, this takes place against the background of honest John Bricker's appeal for a union between the republicans and the southern democrats.

The latter complication has a lot of republicans worried. Their fondest wish for the new year is that Senator Bricker and his pronouncement could be consigned to the outer reaches of oblivion.

Another complication is the fact, very much in the minds of Negroes and other minority groups, that in the first session of the 81st congress republicans joined with dixiecrats to put through a new rule making it more difficult to bring civil rights bills to a vote. The rule makes it nearly impossible to end debate.

All this takes on poignant meaning for at least a few republicans who believe that in order to win a national victory their party must get back the Negro vote. As one proof, they are pointing to the outcome of New Jersey's November election, when Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll was re-elected and the Hague machine overwhelmed.

In a revealing analysis, Arthur Sylvester in the Newark Evening News has shown how significant were Driscoll's heavy majorities in districts largely populated by Negroes. Thus in Montclair, where monthly prepaid rate within their means. Warnings by the Department of Justice that they were violating the anti-trust law were brushed off as naught but attempts at intimidation. The practices in restraint of medical care were defiantly continued. Suit was brought by the Department under the anti-trust law. The case was bitterly contested by the A.M.A. up and down through three grades of federal courts for over four years, but in vain. In 1943, the U. S. Supreme Court closed the case with a unanimous decision sustaining the jury conviction and the court fine of $2,500 against the American Medical association and of $1,500 against the District of Columbia Medical society.

The doctors made a fatal mistake.

Polio Invalid Waiting In Car Is Kidnaped By Accident

NEW YORK—(AP)—Frightened but unharmed, a 42-year-old polio invalid was found last night seven hours after he was kidnaped accidentally.

Throughout an intensive, after-noon-long police hunt, she had sat alone and virtually helpless in the back seat of an abandoned stolen car.

She had been whisked away in the car about noon yesterday by a thief who evidently had not seen her, half-hidden by a pile of Christmas merchandise in the rear. She is only four feet, 10 inches tall.

Police said the thief apparently abandoned the car after discovering his human cargo and becoming fearful of a kidnapping charge.

The woman, Esther Silverman, partially paralyzed and her speech impaired by an attack of polio in her childhood, was too upset to give details of her ordeal.

Her sister, Jean Silverman, a door-to-door saleswoman, said she had left her sister in the back seat of her sedan while she was making a call in Brooklyn. She had left the ignition key in the switch.

Police found the car after dark about eight blocks from where it had been stolen. Nothing had been taken from the car.

Three Downtown Zones Changed For Bus Loading

Three downtown bus loading zones were changed Monday by the city council and Lincoln City Lines.

The new zones are: in front of First National Bank on O street, eliminating the present zone north of Gold's in front of Harley Drug store on O, eliminating the zone on the west side of the store; in front of Magee's on O, eliminating the near-side stop in front of Kresge's.

The council's reasons for the changes were that the present practices of some near-side and some far-side stops are confusing. It was the council's plan when it reorganized the bus system to have all far-side bus stops in the downtown area.

Barton Recommended. The changes were on recommendation of Bus Consultant George Barton.

The council discussed the new bus routes and system with city traffic officials who made minor recommendations for improvement.

The council gave its approval to the request of Lincoln City Lines' superintendent, Bert Cheatham, for a parking area on Tenth and P where the bus company can park buses to put on special routes when they become too overcrowded. This is being done in some cases during the Christmas rush, Cheatham said.

Car Knocks Down Clothesline, Mail Box During Skid

Police Monday were on the lookout for a car, make and model unknown, responsible for damage at the John Svoboda residence, 6404 Kearney.

According to information given police, the car in question skidded 70 feet up into the Svoboda yard Friday night, running over a small tree, knocking down an iron post and mail box and breaking off a clothes line pole.

Svoboda told police that both the mail box post and the clothes line post fell against his car but that the damage was slight.

$10,000 Suit Is Filed In Injury

Edith M. Michelson, Weeping Water Monday filed in Federal court the Federal government arising from injuries she allegedly received in a mishap in the Weeping Water post office.

She claims she stumbled over a box in the post office lobby, injuring herself permanently, and she alleges negligence on the part of employees of the post office. The mishap occurred Dec. 21, 1948.

The suit was filed under the terms of the 1946 Federal tort claims act in which the Federal government waived its immunity suits for cases involving alleged negligence of officers and agents of the government.

Spraying Bindweed Early Most Effective

Spraying bindweed at the early bloom stage last year consistently gave the greatest depth of root kill, according to extension weed specialists of the University of Nebraska. They say that work during the past season showed that spraying the weed just at different stages of growth may give important differences in depth of root kill.

Results from spraying while the bindweed was in the spring rosette stage were poor, the weed specialists say, because of incomplete emergence and the slower growth rate of the plant. Bindweed sprayed while in full bloom was killed to a depth intermediate between the early bloom and spring rosette stages.

Greatest depth of kill was 39 inches from one pound of amine 2, 4-D sprayed during the early bloom stages. Average depth of kill was approximately 20 inches

Bus Riders Escape Injury In Collision

... Car Driver Is Hurt

BOISE, Idaho—(INS)—Fifteen passengers aboard an eastbound Greyhound bus escaped injury last night when the vehicle overturned after a headon collision with an automobile 20 miles east of Boise on highway 30.

The driver of the automobile, Harry Koppel, Boise, was seriously injured and taken to a Boise hospital with chest injuries and severe shock.

State police said Koppel, heading west, swerved his car out from around a car and trailer parked beside the road and rammed into the eastbound bus driven by Dale G. Rolfe, also of Boise.

The bus was apparently moving slowly when it was struck and overturned. No windows were broken.

The passengers, several women among them, and the driver smashed out the windshield of the bus and climbed to safety.

Sister Beneficiary In Einstein Estate

Florence Hene Lieberman, Lincoln, is named a beneficiary in the estate of her sister, Bella Hene Einstein, who died at Arapahoe Dec. 11.

Mrs. Lieberman is to receive the residue of her sister's estate subject to the life interest of Joseph Einstein, the deceased's husband.

Pauline Hene Lehman and Ted H. Eehman, both of Lincoln, will receive small bequests. The will was filed for probate in County court Monday.

Most State Crops This Year Below '48 Standards

Sugar Beets Only One To Beat Mark

Wheat, Oats, Corn Are Down As Final Harvest Estimates Are Released

(By the Associated Press) Most Nebraska crops this year didn't measure up to 1948's bumper standards. Final harvest estimates released Monday showed that only sugar beets topped last year's marks. The department of agriculture's last report for the year forecast 599,999 tons of beets compared to 496,000 tons in 1948. Estimates of the winter wheat crop set it at 53,316,000 bushels, compared with 11,938,000 bushels last year. Corn was estimated at 239,330,000 bushels, down some 13,000,000 bushels from the 194 total of 252,460,000 bushels. Oats 49,720,000 Bushels. Nebraska's oats crop was estimated at 49,720,000 bushels, a tremendous drop from the 1948 total of 72,744,000 bushels. It was also down from the Oct. 1 report, which estimated the crop at 52,920,000 bushels or 21 bushels per acre. The final report set Nebraska's oats yield at 22 bushels per acre, but indicated that only 2,260,000 acres were harvested, compared with a figure of 2,520,000 acres estimated harvested in the October report. The agricultural statistics division in Lincoln gave this explanation of the acreage change: Many farmers, finding their wheat unpromising in the spring, reported they would abandon that wheat acreage and sow it in oats. Later, however, some of these same farmers either let the land go in wheat or planted corn instead because the season was unfavorable for oats seeding. The early oats harvest survey didn't take this into account but the final report did. Rye 1,606,000 Bu. The rye crop was estimated at 1,606,000 bushels, a yield of 8.5 bushels per acre. In 1948 the total rye yield was 1,656,000 or 8 bushels per acre off 225,000 acres. The December final report listed 189,000 acres of rye, compared with an acreage figure on Oct. 1 of 207,000 acres. Dry beans produced chiefly in the North Platte valley were estimated at 1,200,000 bags of 100 pounds each or an average of 1,600 bags per acre. In 1948 the production was 1,494,000 bags. Nebraska's potato harvest was estimated at 170 bushels per acre or 8,340,000 bushels. This was a jump of 15 bushels per acre from November's estimate of 8,060,000 bushels.

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—A cold wave is advancing over most parts of the Missouri valley, having moved southward from Canada behind the trough of low pressure over the upper Mississippi valley and extending westward to Colorado. The movement has been attended by rapid falls of temperature and light snow in the Dakotas, the northern Rockies, and the great basin. There was light rainfall since early Monday in the middle Atlantic coast section and the upper Mississippi valley. Temperatures of more than 20 degrees below zero occurred early Tuesday in Montana, with Glasgow 24 below and Bozeman 29 below. By mid morning Tuesday the temperatures in Nebraska ranged from 6 above in the panhandle to the low 20s in the southeast, with 12 at Norfolk and 13 at Grand Island and with light snow falling in western and northern Nebraska. Freezing drizzle prevailed at Dodge City, Kas.

Weed Eradication Is First Step In Improving Pasture

The abundance of weeds in many Nebraska pastures, a recent knowledge of weed control and the increasing value of pastures makes eradication of weeds the first logical step in pasture improvement, according to Extension Agronomist Henry Wolfe of the University of Nebraska. It must be remembered, said Wolfe, that weeds don't drive—they follow. Under proper management, he said, weeds cannot ordinarily invade grassland. Generally, he added, the invasion is the result of weak condition of the grasses from overgrazing or extended drought. Wolfe believes that the proper use of new chemical herbicides could control as much as 90 per cent of the common weeds in Nebraska.

Mrs. Scherzinger, Wife Of Nelson's Publisher, Dies

NELSON, Neb.—Funeral services for Mrs. Frank A. Scherzinger, 76, wife of Nelson's newspaper publisher, were held Monday afternoon. She died Saturday following a long illness. Long active in community affairs, she held membership in the P.E.O., Presbyterian church and Red Cross. She helped establish a public library in Nelson several years ago and had done much in its development. She had resided in this vicinity since 1893. Surviving are her husband, who is seriously ill at the family home; a daughter, Mrs. Lawson Wehrman, Hastings; a son, Vic B. Nelson; two granddaughters and a sister, Mrs. W. L. Minor, Beatrice.

Forecast Jump In 1950 State Dairy Output

... Demand May Fall

Dairy production will be up 2 to 3 per cent in Nebraska, while consumer demand is likely to be down 5 per cent in 1950. The increase would amount to 100 to 150 pounds more milk per cow.

This is the prediction of University of Nebraska extension dairymen who have prepared outlook data for the U. S. department of agriculture. They said the consumer demand for dairy products will decline because there is less expendable income. Increase in production will depend, they said, on pasture conditions next spring and summer. Grain will be fed liberally. The dairymen believe milk cow numbers will increase slightly during 1950. There were approximately 502,000 in the state last Jan. 1. They pointed out cow numbers hit the low point during 1949.

Less Foreign Demand. Foreign demand for American dairy products, the specialists said, will be somewhat less in 1950 because production in European countries has recovered rapidly during the past year. Devaluation has made American products more expensive in those countries where dollars are short.

Another red marker for the dairy industry, the specialists pointed out, is the decline in the price of margarine. The old price relationship of margarine to butter was one-half. The price spread of margarine and butter, the dairymen said, is expected to be wider in 1950.

Flooding Of Missouri R. Is Serious

Water Damage Great, Lincoln Expert Says

CHICAGO—(AP)—A Lincoln, Neb., expert has reported that flood water damage in the upper Missouri basin has reached the serious stage.

The expert is L. L. Kelly, a flood control specialist for the regional water conservation division in the agriculture department's soil conservation service.

He told the American Society of Agricultural Engineers Monday that "intensive study of small watersheds within the Missouri basin showed that flood water and sediment damages in upstream waters are serious."

Gigantic Area. The flood control specialist reported on the "technical aspects of the USDA water shed program for the Missouri basin."

The program embraces a gigantic area of the nation. The Missouri drains one-fourth of America's farm land.

Kelly told the engineers that the soil conservation service studied small watersheds ranging in size from five to 250 square miles, to determine a program of conservation aimed at reducing flood, sediment, and erosion damage.

Alternate Programs. In the survey, "damages to crops, pastures, streams, banks, farm improvements, roads, bridges, railroads, and utilities were evaluated in terms of dollars," Kelly said.

"We had to prepare alternate programs," for saving soil, he said, "since no single measure will do. Various measures to fight land destruction are interdependent."

In explaining a sample soil saving program for a 50 square mile watershed in Nebraska, Kelly told of selecting a plan combining land terracing and contouring with the construction of dams. The result was that for every $1 annual cost of the program, $3 of annual benefits, including crop increases, resulted.

Mid-West Inaugural Flights Depends On Weather Conditions

OMAHA—(AP)—A spokesman for Mid-west Airlines said the start of flight service on its Omaha-North Platte leg will depend on the weather.

The inaugural flight originally had been scheduled for Tuesday. Poor flying weather has held up the "proving run" over the route. A proving run is a sort of one-day dress rehearsal. It precedes the start of regular service.

A CAA representative goes along on the proving flights. Towns to be served on the North Platte leg include Lincoln, Beatrice, Fairbury, Hastings, Grand Island, Kearney, Lexington and McCook.

Four Injured In Gothenburg Crash Out Of Hospital

GOTHENBURG, Neb.—(AP)—Four of the six persons injured in an auto collision near Gothenburg Monday had been released today from the Gothenburg hospital.

Still under treatment were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Potter of Cozad, Neb. Hospital attendants described their condition as "fair."

Killed in the accident was Donis Wells, 30, of Cozad. The injured included Mont J. Green, 66, Manhattan, Kas., contractor; Franklin Boone, 51, a hotel owner at Manhattan; Mrs. Green, 52, of Manhattan; and Mrs. Donis Wells of Cozad.

Boy Scout Honorary To Elect Officers

A pow-wow of the Order of the Golden Sun, an honorary Boy Scout camping society of the Cornhusker Council, will be held in Lincoln Dec. 30.

An election of officers at 1 p. m. at Camp Minis-Kuya will start the pow-wow.

The group will have dinner at the Y.W.C.A. at 6:15 p. m. and a dance there at 8 p. m. Each Golden Sun member will be allowed to bring one couple as a guest to the dinner and dance.

Capt. Lierman, Former Seward Resident, Dies

SEWARD, Neb.—Word has been received here of the death of Captain Herbert G. Lierman, 27, in Japan December 13 from pneumonia.

Leaving Nebraska two months ago, he had served nine years in the army at the time of his death. His wife, the former Amy Brungard of Hastings, and two daughters were awaiting transportation orders to join the captain overseas.

Born at Seward, he attended Seward high school and attended the University of Nebraska. During World War II, he fought in the Italian campaign. Three years ago, he was transferred from the infantry to the military intelligence corps.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Patricia, 2, and Jeanne, nine months; his father, Henry Lierman, Lincoln; four sisters, Mrs. R. J. Brungard, Alliance, Mrs. LeRoy Blank and Loree Lierman, both of Kimball, and Mrs. Richard Tomnd, Seward.

Funeral services will be conducted at St. John's Lutheran church at Seward following arrival of the body in the U. S.

WILL R. KING. GRAND ISLAND—Will R. King, 85, Grand Island resident for almost 75 years, died here Friday at a local hospital after an illness of one year.

MRS. ALMENA ROYD. WYMORE—Funeral services for Mrs. Almena Royd 86, who died Wednesday, were held Saturday afternoon. Born in Freeport, Ill., she had resided in the Wymore community for about 40 years. Surviving are three nieces and three nephews.

Salvation Army's Noisy Fund Drive Labeled 'Outrage'

OMAHA—(AP)—A noisy "kettle day" campaign for Salvation Army funds topped its quota yesterday, but brought sharp criticism from a prominent attorney. The lawyer, William C. Ritchie, called the noise "an outrage" and sought to file a complaint against the Young Business Men's association to stop the ringing of a large bell at a downtown corner. The bell-ringing was used along with loudspeakers to attract the attention of passers-by.

City Attorney Edward Fogarty, to whom Ritchie appealed, said a 1948 injunction prohibits enforcement of the city's anti-noise ordinance.

Capt. E. H. Miller, Salvation Army public relations secretary, said no complaint was received at headquarters. Solicitors are cautioned "to use discretion," he said. "We think the city has long since become accustomed to the carnival spirit of kettle day," he added.

Miller said collections totaled $8,700 in the downtown area. Quota for the day was $6,500.

Grand Jury Ponders Maragon Case

Perjury Charge Is Possible

Onetime Frequenter Of White House Accused Of Telling Lie Under Oath

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A grand jury today began looking into the case of John Maragon, onetime frequenter of the White House, who is accused by senators of lying to them under oath.

For the grand jury, the question is whether there should be an indictment for perjury. That is a crime carrying a possible penalty of two to 10 years in jail on each count.

Maragon is the former Kansas City bootblack who had a friend in presidential military aide Harry Vaughn. He has been accused of lying when he denied to senate "5 per center" investigators that he never got any money for handling business deals with government agencies.

Reporter First Witness.

The first witness before the grand jury was Gilbert Halasz, a shorthand reporter who recorded some of the hearings at which Maragon made his denial.

Waiting to appear as witness were Harold Ross, president of Allied Molasses Company, Inc., of Perth Amboy, N. J.; Milton Pollard, Milwaukee life insurance agent, and William P. Rogers and Carmine S. Bellino, counsel and accountant for the senate investigators.

Pollard testified to the senate investigating committee that he paid Maragon more than $1,000 in an attempt to obtain cancellation of an order suspending the sugar ration of the Allied Molasses company. That was in 1946. Pollard said he was interested in Allied's case because he is an uncle of Ross.

Ross testified to the committee that he once handed Maragon $100 in cash when Maragon said he needed money for expenses.

One Man's Opinion

BY WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed by International News Service)
This year's "Poor Richard" award went to a fellow who has $5,580,000,000 of our money to spend . . . that ought to qualify all of us as poor Richards next year.

The "Poor Richard" medal is awarded in honor of Benjamin Franklin who preached thrift but in all other respects was normal.

There must have been some feeling against thrift in those days too . . . You'll notice that Franklin never became president.

Things are tough all over . . . in New Guinea the price of a good wife is up three steel hatchets and four pigs.

Time was you could get a father's consent with 22 mother-of-pearl shells . . . that was one of the early versions of the shell game.

There is some talk that the last of the war taxes will go out here next year. The last of the war taxes will go out and the next of the peace taxes will come in.

Hal Boyle Offers Stalin A Bit Of Birthday Advice

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — To Joseph Stalin, care of the Kremlin, U.S.S.R.

Dear Joe:
Congratulations, old tovarich of wartime, on your happy anniversary tomorrow. You'll wake up on the shortest day of winter to find yourself 70 years old—the life span allotted to man by the Bible you studied as a boy.

They tell me it's to be the biggest birthday party in history, celebrated by ringing bells and booming guns, with caviar all around, and so much vodka on the house that a man couldn't drink his share with two straws. They say you couldn't have won more gifts if you'd guessed it. The tune on "Stop The Music" quiz.

Meeting on Elbe.

I sure would like to attend your big hoedown. You Russians really know how to throw a party! The last one I attended was in 1945 when we linked up with your boys on the river Elbe. I was carrying a rifle for Uncle Sam at the time. We were shy of caviar and vodka, but we tanked up on German wine and traded our rations back and forth.

It was a wonderful time. We laid aside our guns, your boys and our boys, and laughed and drank together on the river's bank—and nobody was afraid of anybody. None of us who were there can ever forget that first day of full peace and happiness after the long years of war.

Circumstances being what they are, I won't be with you in Moscow tomorrow. But I would like to send you a birthday gift—of advice.

The advice, Joe, is to stop and look around.

Come a Long Way.

For a guy only two inches taller than Napoleon you've come a long way. You were born a poor Georgian boy, Joseph Vissarionovich Djugashvili, whose father wanted him to become a cobbler and his mother a priest.

But you yourself chose to be a revolutionary, and chose as your party nickname—Stalin, "man of steel." You've lived up to your nickname.

Your iron will carried you through seven exiles to Siberia. You fought your way up through Bolshevik ranks, and you let 1,000,000 farmers starve to death because you thought you knew what was best for Russia.

New Heights.

Perhaps you did. You have reached heights of power unknown to any previous Russian ruler. You unified your country in uneasy peace—purging by blood all who stood in your path—and you saved your country in a mighty war.

Every step of the way you said your acts were dictated by a desire to help the common man—the working class. Practically all leaders say that.

Well, Joe, now's the time to put up or shut up.

What the common man in all lands has yearned most for is a period of peace and prosperity stretching endlessly ahead for him and his children.

The common men aren't mad at each other. And they won't be if their leaders won't sic 'em on.

The Russian working man, like the American, wants a better house, better schooling for the kids, a few new gadgets around the kitchen to keep his old woman happy, and more meat on the table.

You've got the power, Joe, and if you use it wisely maybe God will give you added years to turn your Russia into the wonderland of plenty you have promised so often. But you can't do it by building army go army.

Let's really start beating those swords into plowshares, old timer.

Sincerely, Pvt. G. I. Joe (retired to Mister.)

Date Not Fixed For Council Hearing On Public Housing

No date for the public hearing on the proposed public housing program for Lincoln was set by the city council Monday.

The meeting probably will not be until the last week in January. The city housing authority will submit a contract to the city council for its approval about the middle of January.

The hearing will be held after that contract is submitted, and the council action on that contract may decide the fate of public housing in Lincoln.

In the morning session, Dr. Carol Brown, president of the Lincoln Apartment Owners association, urged the council to hold the hearing. He expressed the opinion that public housing is not needed because private builders can meet the demand.

A representative of a local labor union asked the council to be sure the hearing is held at night so working people "who are most vitally concerned about public housing" can present their opinions on it.

Weather Ahead

The five-day extended forecast for Nebraska: Temperatures will average near normal east, 3 to 6 degrees below normal west Wednesday through Sunday, normal maximum 34 north, 50 south, normal minimum 14 in north, 25 in south; temperatures will be below normal Wednesday, continued cold Thursday and Friday, with rising trend Saturday and Sunday; considerable cloudiness indicated throughout period with precipitation averaging one-fourth to one-half inch; in Nebraska precipitation will occur as snow and freezing rain Wednesday.

New Decorations Add To Wesleyan Yule Celebration

A "new Yule look" has been added to the Christmas decorations at Nebraska Wesleyan university this year.

Director of Buildings and Grounds Ralph Smith and his crew of campus employees have strung lights on two towering Wesleyan landmarks. One set covers the new bell tower on "Old Main." The other is strung around the 125 foot high heating plant smoke stack.

Previously lighted out-of-door decorations have been confined to a dignified old blue spruce in the center of the campus.

According to Smith, the lights will burn throughout the holiday season.

Expert Advises Shrub, Rose Bush Pruning Delayed Until Spring

Extension Horticulturist Wayne C. Whitney of the University of Nebraska advises waiting until spring to trim your shrubs and rose bushes.

Whitney says you'll get better blooming on rose bushes if they are pruned just before growth starts in the spring. He says the canes should be left about 10 inches long.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Were out of luck. After extensive hearings on the coast, a power commission examiner issued a report stating that the public interest would "best be served if development of the King river watershed be undertaken by the United States itself."

The reclamation bureau voiced the same view, claiming that private exploitation of the King river would seriously interfere with government plans for increased irrigation and low-cost, public power development in the central valley.

Reclamation officials pointed out that the river might well be utilized for public power projects, such as the Shasta and Keswick dams on the Sacramento river, with which they could be linked up in a miniature TVA, instead of turning over this rich fountain of electric power and irrigation to private promoters.

However, the federal power commission, including Wallgren, turned a deaf ear to the bureau, as well as the recommendation of its own examiner, and granted P. G. and E. a license. The Fresno irrigation district meantime was given a permit to make a study of the river's power and irrigation potential, a device usually leading to a license.

As full of good things as Christmas Morning

COME Christmas morn, and certain homes hereabouts are going to know joy as never before.

A ribboned key will pass hands. There'll be a rush outside to inspect a gorgeous creation in gleaming chrome and satiny color.

It will be a shining new Buick—ready to repeat all over again the delights you found opening your Christmas packages.

A thumb's pressure on a door lock will swing open wide and welcoming doors. Big roomy seat cushions, sofa-wide and soft, will invite you to step in for a quick trial.

There'll be an outlook generous as Kriss Kringle's heart, and a wheel that seems to snuggle into a driver's hand.

Someone will say "Let's try it!"—and a big Fireball straight-eight engine of stepped-up power and still higher compression will purr into eager life.

Soft coil springs on each wheel will gentle road-shock, and rigid torque-tube will hold the whole structure steady. That good solid Buick feel and the cushiony grip of super-soft tires on wide safety rims will wash out all sense of bounce and jitter.

And it could be that the simple word, Dynaflo,* will be spelled out on the fender. That will mean a brand-new sensation for the whole family—the luxurious sensation of utter smoothness and blissful driving ease.

A Merry Christmas? It certainly will be for new Buick-owning homes.

For with all its gleaming beauty, this Buick need not bring New Year's budget headaches, since prices spread-eagle every price range above the very lowest.

It may be a bit late for getting a new Buick to your house by Christmas morning. But it's not too late to see your Buick dealer—and make your gift to the family the news that a Buick will soon be yours.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Icy Weather Hits Rockies, Moves East

Sub-Zero Temperatures In Montana, Wyoming Expected To Moderate

(By The Associated Press)

Wintry weather spread an icy finger over the central Rocky mountain states and headed into the upper Missouri valley today.

The eastern and southeastern parts of the country had comparatively mild temperatures.

The mercury dropped to sub-zero levels throughout most of Montana and parts of North Dakota and Wyoming today. In Montana, it dipped to 20 below at Havre; 19 below at Lewiston and -18 at Custer. Williston, N. D., reported a low of -10 and it was -5 at Lander, Wyo.

Snow fell throughout most of the cold belt and strong winds piled drifts on many roads. Ice-glazed highways and streets in many areas slowed travel.

Salt Lake City reported 45 accidents, many resulting from icy streets, over a 24-hour period. Heavy snowfall was reported in northern Utah. School buses in some sections were blocked by drifts.

The storm moved slowly northeastward from the upper Missouri valley and Mississippi valley but temperatures were expected to moderate. Colder air also has moved into the north Pacific states and there was light snow in the extreme northern mountain states.

Old Friendship Is Renewed At Union College

An old acquaintanceship was renewed Monday when Dr. Ralph Lyman, visiting professor of music at Doane college, visited the Union college music hall.

There Dr. Lyman met Prof. Marilyn Abel, chairman of the Union college department of music. The two became friends while Dr. Lyman was chairman of the department of music at Pomona college, Claremont, Calif., and Prof. Abel was chairman of the La Sierra college department of music at Arlington, Calif.

They were closely associated in organizing the Southern California Choral Conductors' guild in Los Angeles under the direction of Dr. John Finley Williamson.

Commenting on the Union college music department, Dr. Lyman said, "You possess fine equipment, a modern plant and a well staffed music faculty. Your plant is comparable to that of Pomona college." Dr. Lyman was chairman of the Pomona college department of music from 1917 until his retirement in 1948.

Dr. Lyman listened to the Golden Cord Choral in Monday's rehearsal, and said, "The group is outstanding in tone and intonation, and is composed of an enthusiastic group of students who possess natural voices."

Dr. Lyman left Lincoln Monday night and will visit with relatives in Kansas City and Chicago before returning to his home in Claremont, Calif.

Mass Caroling, Parade Planned At Wesleyan U.

An old tradition at Nebraska Wesleyan will be carried out Tuesday night when students take part in the annual Christmas Noel—a torchlight parade capped with mass caroling—scheduled for 7 p. m. in front of Old Main.

Three separate lines of students will participate in the parade. Starting points will be Senior hall on Madison avenue, Johnson hall on the campus, and the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house on Huntington avenue.

The lines will gain in numbers as each organized house, dormitory and rooming house is passed and occupants light their torches and join in the parade.

Prof. Oscar Bennett, head of the department of music, will lead the singing.

Women's Division To See Puppet Show

The women's division of the chamber of commerce will hold its last meeting of the year on Wednesday night at 6:30 at the chamber of commerce. The program for this meeting will be organ music during the dinner hour by Bob Bretland.

Following the dinner, Marjorie Shanafelt will present a floor show of her newest puppets. Decorations will be in the Christmas motif.

Five new members of the board of directors will be presented by Mrs. Irene Barber, president of the division.

Committee in charge of the meeting is composed of Alma Wagner, Madeline Girard, Margaret Collins, Helen Boehmer, Thelma Tinscher, Lucille Powell, Lillian Anderson, Yleen Riesland, Elva Baxter and Grace Trotter, general chairman.

Thieves Open Yule Packages At Home

Thieves who tore open Christmas packages, both under the tree and in an upstairs bedroom, Monday night made off with $76 worth of clothing, jewelry and pennies at the home of Lee Lindamood, 6212 Morrill.

Lindamood told police the house was entered through an unlocked window between 7 and 10 p. m. Monday.

Included in the stolen items were a bracelet, a pair of earrings, three rings, a string of pearls and $10 worth of pennies.

Police To Aid Drive For The Last Time

City police will aid in the March of Dimes drive next month—for the last time.

The city council Monday agreed to permit the police department to distribute and collect the containers that will be used in the drive. Some of the councilmen did not want to permit the police department to do it this year, but agreed on the condition that "this is the last" year.

Monday morning Harold Schwenker, manager of the campaign, appeared before the council and told them that it would mean no extra work for the policemen. Cobe Venner, director of welfare and safety, disagreed with this, however, and said the distribution and collection of the containers does entail additional work.

Yankee Hill Club Plans '50 Activity

Plans were made for the coming year at a meeting Friday of the Yankee Hill Extension club.

The club met at the home of Mrs. Henry Haack with Mrs. Minnie Seidel as assisting hostess. Mrs. Gail Adams, president, presided at the business meeting.

"The Yard Beautiful" was the subject of a talk by Mrs. N. L. Baker. The group also sang Christmas carols and exchanged gifts. Fourteen members and one guest attended. The next meeting will be held Jan. 20 at the home of Mrs. Rens Sloate.

Arthur Wherry, 82, Pawnee City, Dies

PAWNEE CITY, Neb.—Arthur Wherry, 82, died Monday following a heart attack.

Long-time resident of this community, he and his brother, the late D. E. Wherry, formed the Wherry Brothers firm. He was president of the Citizens bank of Pawnee City, a member of the school board, and elder in the United Presbyterian church and a member of the Pawnee City Service club for many years.

Surviving are his wife, Eva; one son, Dr. Roland Wherry, Peoria, Ill.; and a daughter, Mrs. Lowell Barr, Albert Lea, Minn. He was an uncle of Senator Kenneth Wherry.

Obliging Motorist Gives Another A Push: Ends Up Accused Criminal

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Sometimes it just doesn't pay to be a Good Samaritan.

That's what Clifford Wiesbrod probably is thinking today. Last night Francis Dildine stopped Wiesbrod's car and asked for a push to get his own stalled auto going.

Wiesbrod obliged.

As the two cars approached an intersection, Dildine's vehicle forged on ahead and ran over Hudson county Patrolman Edward Mullins, police said.

Mullins suffered a fractured right knee.

Dildine was booked on a charge of assault and battery by automobile. So was Wiesbrod.

City Lines To Remove Snow On Bus Routes

Lincoln City Lines will do some snow removal for its buses this winter.

Bert Cheatham, superintendent for the bus company, told the city council Monday that the company has purchased a two-ton truck and plans to purchase a snow plow for snow removal work this winter. The snow plow will be ready by Jan. 1, he said.

The bus company will co-ordinate its efforts with the city to open streets for transportation.

It is believed this "voluntary" move on the part of the bus company would forestall any concerted effort on the part of the city council to force them to purchase snow removal equipment — possibly more than one plow.

Mayor Miles commended Cheatham for the co-operation he has shown the city in bus re-routing and reorganization.

Gas Tax Money For Road Repair Shows Drop In '49

Although motor vehicle traffic has increased two per cent this year over 1948, the share of gasoline tax money going to construction and maintenance of highways has been reduced, it was revealed by the monthly traffic report of State Engineer Fred Klietsch.

The amount raised last year for each one cent of gas tax was $3,580,000. This year it is estimated it will decline to $3,550,000. The cause—increase in refunds to farmers.

Last year the refunds amounted to $838,891 for the first 11 months. This year it has soared to $1,538,499. The number of claims paid at this time last year were 25,406 with total $6,108, an increase of about 6,000. This has been about the average yearly increase since the refund law was passed.

The 2 per cent increase in vehicle traffic on highways outside of cities was made in spite of traffic last January and February falling far below any year since 1946 because of blizzards.

November traffic was 9 per cent over the same month in 1948 although 10 per cent below the October figure. Greatest increase for the year was on Route 6 with 32 per cent at the Gretna counter and 35 per cent west of Arapahoe.

Traffic at Gretna was the most dense recorded in the state with an average of 3,221 vehicles passing each 24 hours. U. S. 77 north of Fremont was next with 3,168 vehicles. Daily travel on all roads outside of cities averaged 7,993,000 miles as compared with 7,296,000 miles last November or the daily average for the year 1948 of 7,627,000 miles.

Aid Program Advances Are Up $17,000 In Month

Advances to counties to carry out the assistance program in December increased more than $17,000, Neil Vandemoer, state director, said today. Total for the month was $1,417,489 as compared to $1,400,199 in November.

The advances provided $1,103,547 for the aged, $279,374 for dependent children and $34,567 for the blind.

Vandemoer said that the number of old age relief recipients increased in November to 23,853 from the 23,757 of a year ago. The number of dependent children increased from 7,558 a year ago to 8,362 and the number of families being aided from 3,176 to 3,492. The blind increased from 521 to 615.

The average grant to the aged in the year increased from $41.52 to $43.59 and for dependent children from $35.19 to $35.42. The average family grant increased from $83.75 to $84.81. Blind grants increased in the year from $47.83 to $52.73.

In addition to the grants for the aged there were 2,868 vendor-recipient payments above the ceiling of which the state paid $77,106 and the counties $25,692.

Physicians said he had been suffering from extensive ulceration of the stomach.

Schluter Conviction Is Appealed Again

Harold R. Schluter of Omaha Monday appealed to the state Supreme court from his one-to-three-year reformatory sentence for manslaughter.

Schluter was convicted in connection with the so-called hayrack tragedy in 1947 in which Freddie Freelin was killed and seven other members of an Omaha university hayride party were injured. Schluter was driver of the car involved in the collision.

This is the second time Schluter's case has come before the Supreme court. Previously the high court reversed the lower court and sent the case back for retrial on grounds of improper instructions to the jury.

Burgman Gets 6 To 20-Year Term

American Convicted Of Treason

... Nazi Radio Broadcasts

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Herbert John Burgman, former U.S. embassy clerk in Berlin, today was sentenced to serve from six to 20 years in prison for wartime treason.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff ordered Burgman to serve the sentence at the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

Defense Attorney James J. Laughlin immediately filed an appeal.

Holtzoff, in pronouncing sentence, said he took into consideration the age and the health of the defendant. Burgman is 53.

He said the jury rendered a "just verdict" and added that any other finding would "have been unreasonable."

13 Overt Acts. Burgman was found guilty on Nov. 15 of 13 overt acts of treason which grew out of a series of broadcasts he made for the Nazi radio during the war.

The former chief clerk of the military attaché in the Berlin embassy walked into court to hear Holtzoff pronounce sentence. He showed no visible strains of a heart ailment which had bothered him during the trial.

The government charged that when World War II got under way, Burgman declined to be re-

Margaret Truman Says Her Only Romance Is With Music

NEW YORK—(AP)—Margaret Truman is in love—but with music. And with New York City, too.

"At this point, my entire romance is with music," she said on the eve of her first concert here tonight.

Later, she modified this by saying she loves New York and is mighty pleased to be singing in the city where she has lived and studied voice for the past nine months.

The president's daughter, holding a news conference yesterday, treated lightly all questions about personal romance.

No member of her family will be in the audience tonight, Miss Truman said. She will leave tomorrow or Thursday for the family Christmas gathering at Independence, Mo.

Miss Truman plans to sing as a member of the choir at Trinity Episcopal church in Independence on Christmas eve.

Her next concert tour will start Feb. 2 at Richmond, Va., and end March 30 at Bowling Green, Ohio.

Gering Sugar Beet Factory Nearing Close

GERING, Neb.—(AP)—Beet slicing at the Great Western Sugar factory here ended last night.

Stephen Force, factory superintendent, said processing will continue for another 48 hours.

Force estimated that 119,000 tons of beets were processed during the refining period. About 300 persons were employed here, Force said.

Factories at Scottsbluff, Bayard and Mitchell closed the first of the month.

Denfeld Rejects A Post

Fired Admiral Bitter About "Loss Of Respect"; His Future Is In Doubt

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The controversy over Adm. Louis E. Denfeld's dismissal as chief of naval operations—and his refusal of one lesser job—appears likely to simmer on until after congress returns to the capital next month.

In a bitter letter to Navy secretary Matthews, the four-star critic of defense department policies has turned down the post of commander-in-chief of U. S. naval forces in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean.

Denfeld's letter was made public by the navy, at his request, yesterday. It recalled the secretary's report to President Truman that Denfeld was not loyal to his superiors and lacked proper respect for authority. In view of that statement, Denfeld wrote, other nations might not have the confidence in him that the commander of the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean fleet should enjoy.

The ousted chief of naval operations added: "It is pertinent for me to observe, furthermore, from the events which have transpired since my testimony before the armed services committee of the house of representatives on 13 October 1949, that I would be under an undesirable restraint on the vital matter of frank discussion with the military representatives of other north Atlantic pact nations."

"My views on combined strategy, and particularly on naval participation in any arrangements entered by the countries concerned should be defended in the event of an emergency, might reopen the recent controversy to the embarrassment of my colleagues, my superiors and our government."

Although the tone of Denfeld's letter suggested he will retire from the navy, the admiral reserved his decision on that question.

He said he is considering whether to ask for retirement—a "privilege accorded by law to naval officers who have served 40 years or more."

"If I decide to remain on active duty," he continued, "I shall be glad, of course, to serve in any assignment that you may choose in which the handicaps imposed by recent events will not be present."

Denfeld is on leave until Jan. 19. If he postpones his decision regarding retirement until then, congress will be in session. And members of congress who advocate a congressional investigation of his dismissal from the C.N.O. post will be on hand.

Asked what other post or posts Secretary Matthews would offer Denfeld, his office replied:

"That will be considered when his leave is up."

Denfeld was dismissed by President Truman.

Fire Claims 7 Members Of A Family

It Won't Be A Merry Christmas For The Remaining Seven

EMMETT, Mich.—(AP)—Death took its sixth and seventh victims of farmer Clarence Bethway's family of 14 today.

As sorrowing townspeople gave aid in the Christmas week calamity, 80-year-old Grandma Louise, a heroine of yesterday's fire, succumbed with a granddaughter, Mary Lou, 13.

Both the elderly woman and the child died of burns in Port Huron General hospital.

Five other children, ranging in age from 3 to 11, were burned to death when trapped in an upstairs bedroom in a pre-dawn blaze which destroyed the family home.

Grandma Louise Bethway was burned while rescuing one child. There were 11 children in the family.

Mary Lou and a brother, Joe, 8, leaped from a window. But both had been burned badly.

Joe was in a serious condition at the hospital today.

The tragedy stunned this little village of 229 population.

Townfolk conceded there was little they could do to make this a merry Christmas for the survivors.

10 Seepage Suits Settled

... By Tri-County

HOLDREGE, Neb.—(AP)—Settlements have been reached with the last week in 10 suits brought against the Central Nebraska (Tri-County) Public Power and Irrigation district for seepage damage to farm lands.

Dismissal motions were filed Saturday in eight suits, following the dismissal of two the previous day.

Damages sought in the eight cases dismissed Saturday totaled $115,950.

Dismissal was attributed to a compromise settlement between Tri-County and the eight plaintiffs reached through their attorneys.

Ruins Farmland.

Two of those dismissed Thursday were those of Dr. Theo O. Peterson, filed in 1947, and followed by the filing of 14 others.

Peterson's suit alleged that the irrigation project had operated to raise underground water level on a farm so that the lands were useless.

In announcing dismissal of his suits, Peterson's attorneys said Tri-County had agreed to construct two separate drainage ditches and a lateral to relieve seepage from the reservoirs and irrigation canals which it operated.

Those dismissing suits Saturday, and the amounts they had sought were: Evelyn M. Guer, $14,727; Reuben G. Johnson and Ella D. Moyers, $1,455; Ruben G. Anderson, $19,940; Sarah Johnson, $25,431; Sigval Johnson, $22,268; Junetta L. Hendricks, $5,809; Fred A. Johnson, $5,400; and Myrtle Johnson, $12,253.

man as chief of naval operations last Oct. 27, at the request of Matthews.

Previously, he had joined other high navy officers in testifying before the house armed services committee. The admirals said publicly that the navy was not being admitted to full partnership in the defense department and that its offensive power was being scuttled.

Drive-In Grant Stands; Business Zoning OK'd For Summit Boulevard

No Call Made For Reconsideration On Liquor Issue; Council 'Scolded'

Stern protests of a large number of Lincoln citizens were overruled on two points at city hall Monday.

In each case it was a Pansing-Weaver-Wilkinson-Sheaff coalition that overruled them.

"Hottest" of the issues was the liquor drive-in permit to Bill Murrell at Fifteenth and P. The city council by a 4-2 vote last week granted this permit while the mayor was out of the city.

The second controversial question was the application of Handy System Stores Inc., for local business zoning on Summit Blvd., near the Rock Island tracks, adjacent to Swift Lumber and Fuel company. This the council granted, with Mayor Miles, Mrs. Orme, and John Comstock again on the losing side.

Former Policy. The drive-in permit remains in effect, since no councilman would call for reconsideration.

Mayor Miles "scolded" the council—especially Tom Pansing who served as acting mayor and engineered the permit through by the narrow council majority—for their "hurry" in pushing the permit through before he returned.

The mayor said he "wouldn't have cared so much" if he had been out of town on a vacation.

Miles reminded Pansing that the council had adopted a "policy" against increasing the number of drive-ins two weeks before he left town. Declared the mayor:

"There's a lot at stake here and it sure seems that this was pushed through in an awful hurry."

Battle Lines Same.

Countered Pansing: "But four votes are four votes."

And so, the issue was "settled," when a Roy Sheaff, who had changed sides on the original vote declined to call for reconsideration.

This was the reason Sheaff offered for failure to call for reconsideration: "I like to see a fellow stand by a vote."

The battle lines were the same on the Handy System zoning issue. After an hour-long public hearing in which both sides to the question were presented, Mrs. Orme moved that the application be denied. The motion failed to carry, whereupon Art Weaver moved that the permit be granted. Pansing seconded and it passed.

Zoning Defended.

It is possible—but very unlikely—that the zoning change could be knocked out while the ordinance is on its way through the three readings necessary for passage. The vote of approval, which, in effect, okays the application, directs the city attorney to prepare an ordinance to provide for local business zoning on Summit boulevard and Sheridan, near the Rock Island tracks.

Weaver and Pansing defended the permit on grounds that "this is the kind of zoning we should have." Weaver said it would be an improvement to the area rather than tend to hurt the value of surrounding property.

Mayor Miles said the application is "substantially the same" as the one made two years ago

THE LINCOLN STAR 11
Tuesday, December 20, 1949

sent 18 persons protesting the application. He likened the bringing of local business zoning into Sheridan boulevard to putting "a pig in a parlor."

"Not just a pig, but a mother pig . . . which keeps on having little ones," he declared.

Pierson pointed out that once local business zoning is granted there, a whole local business area will spring up.

Supporting Pierson were Herbert Henderson, Harry Peck, O. F. Schlaebitz and Glenn Deeter. All pointed out the deleterious effects that local business zoning will have on their property.

Youth, 18, Is Convicted Of Dixie Killing

Jury Recommends Life For Boy Who Shot His Sweetheart's Father

JACKSON, Miss. — (AP) — Ronnie Pitts, described by the prosecution as a debaucher with a criminal mind, was convicted last night of murdering the father of his teen-age sweetheart.

The jury recommended that the 18-year-old youth be sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of Perry Henderson, vacuum cleaner executive and father of his sweetheart, Anna, Mississippi law requires that the trial judge be guided by the jury's recommendation in pronouncing formal sentence.

The state had sought the death penalty.

Shows No Emotion.

The youth told a lurid tale of illicit relations with his young sweetheart, now 17 years old. He showed no emotion when the verdict was read.

Henderson, shot in the head, was found dead in the dining room of his home June 25. Ronnie testified he shot the man in a pistol duel in which Henderson fired first.

He said he had gone to his sweetheart's home because Henderson had promised to give him Anna's address. He had threatened to tell authorities that Henderson had sent his daughter away, he related, "to get rid of the baby we were going to have."

Ronnie's story provided the basis of most of the final arguments to the jury. It told of sexual intercourse with Anna in the girl's bedroom and in a Riverside park where, with one of her friends present, both he and his young sweetheart posed in the nude.

State attorneys pictured Ronnie as a debaucher with a "criminal mind," who "unleashed the name of the girl he loves."

AP Newsfeature

Chapter 23

As Larry Hackett walked into the hotel Jonathan Andrews rose from a chair in the lobby and accompanied him to his room.

"What are you going to do now?" asked Andrews.

"Return to Boston by way of Salem," the newsmen gloomily replied.

"I'm going to Squam Lake for the vacation that's due me."

All right, but—Hackett broke off as the telephone rang. "Hello!" he said to the mouthpiece, and after a pause: "Theodore Cartwright? Who is—?" It suddenly occurred to him that a nickname for "Theodore" was "Ted."

"Tell him to come up."

He hung up the receiver and quickly said to the young news photographer: "Important visitor on his way up. Pack your things and meet me in my car, out in front."

Andrews was gone when a knock on the door sounded and Larry Hackett admitted Ted Cartwright.

"Cartwright is my name, Mr.—" He paused, a puzzled expression in his eyes, and made a longer examination of the other's face. "Hackett is my name," said the newsmen.

"Yes, I know," said Cartwright, entering the room. "I heard Mr. Sayre call you by name. But where have I seen you before today?"

"Probably on the train to Plymouth, or possibly in Boston. Hackett closed the door. 'Won't you be seated?'"

"Thanks awfully. Cartwright seated himself.

"You spoke of Boston," he blandly reminded Larry.

"Why, yes, Boston, Mr. Cartwright," he parried. "I once saw you there... with a lady friend of Myron Scott."

Cartwright gave an involuntary start. "What are you driving at?" he asked coldly.

"Let me ask the questions, for there's no information I have to give you for Sayre. Why did Florence Sayre tell Myron Scott her name was Virginia Lambert? Another question—did you prevent Scott from committing some undercover act, last Friday night?"

The expression of surprise in Cartwright's blue eyes, which the first of Hackett's two questions had evoked, was superseded by one of growing fear.

"Scott couldn't have put such ideas into your head," said Cartwright in an unsteady tone, "for I have never met the fellow."

"Then you didn't overtake him at his home, last Friday night?"

"No," denied Cartwright flatly, his startled eyes riveted on Hackett's.

"Are you a detective?"

The newsmen shook his head. "I'm a feature-writer on the Boston News-Dispatch. Can you tell me," asked Hackett, "why Florence Sayre registered under the alias of Virginia Lambert at The Stafford, and hurriedly checked out of the hotel within an hour after the murder of Eben Daniels?"

Agitated, Cartwright rose and silently walked the floor. "Did you come to Plymouth on her account?" he finally asked.

Hackett moved over on the edge of the bed, the better to see Cartwright's face. "Didn't Mr. Sayre tell you why I came here?"

The dapper man shook his head. "No, I didn't come to Plymouth because of her," the newsmen told him. "By the way, what possible interest could a woman so beautiful as she have in Scott, when she could easily attract personable men, as she doubtless has?" He smiled significantly at the personable Cartwright.

With a shrug of his tweed shoulders the other belittled the implied compliment. "It was an odd affair," he said colorlessly, and returned to his chair. "They met at Revere Beach several weeks ago, and under the unconventional circumstances she didn't give Scott her right name. Lord only knows what she saw in him, unless she—"

He caught himself, then added: "I've no right to discuss her and Scott's affair with you."

"My question was academic, not personal," smiled Hackett.

"Um, I see," murmured Cartwright. Stroking his mustache, he regarded the newsmen. "It occurs to me, Mr. Hackett, that the best way for her to avoid unfavorable publicity might be for her to tell her story to you."

"It might save her some trouble in the long run," said Hackett significantly. "Can you arrange for her to see me tonight?"

"No. I know Miss Sayre goes to Boston in a day or two—something to do with her fall wardrobe. I am quite sure that after I tell her of our conversation she'll consent to meet you in the city."

"All right," agreed Hackett. "If you want to communicate with me in Boston," said Cartwright on his way to the door, "you'll find me at the Hotel Timberly."

At the threshold Hackett asked: "What happened after you set out

Old Time Toys Displayed At Historical Society Museum

Santa's pack may not have contained quite such a variety of good things when Grandpa was a boy, but it still carried its cargo of toys to delight young hearts on Christmas morning.

Some of those toys of long ago are now on display at the State Historical Society's museum in the capitol.

A look at the collection shows that toy versions of grown-up devices were as popular half a century and more ago as they are today. For the boys, the toy sleigh and the horse-drawn trolley occupied the place now reserved for trucks, trains, airplanes and rocket ships.

And when Grandma was a girl, she might have received a small coffee mill, an iron stove, or some dishes. Then as now, baby got a teddy bear and some blocks.

For all ages, the stereoscope was a popular gift—or, if the family already had one, a new set of "views" with which to while away the long winter evenings. Even more popular was the magic lantern, complete with alcohol lamp, for projecting wonderful scenes on a bed sheet hung at end of one of the parlor.

These and others, equally popular, help bring back Christmas of another year.

Stalin To Get Tons Of Gifts

Million Presents Are Pouring Into Kremlin From Communist Lands

LONDON—(AP)—The greatest giveaway jackpot program in history is on today, with Russia's Joseph Stalin on the receiving end.

Stalin, overlord of world communism, hits the jackpot tomorrow when he reaches the age of 70. How much the take in birthday presents is worth is anybody's guess. Tons and tons of gifts—so many that not in centuries could one man use them up—have descended on Moscow from the communist world.

Reports reaching London through the Soviet Monitor and other channels indicate that there will be more than 1,000,000 parcels bearing the tag: "Happy Birthday Dear Comrade."

Besides, there will be a veritable flood of big crates containing the more unwieldy gifts—all the way from motorcycles to airplanes.

Value in Money.

Take an average figure of $5 per gift—that would be cheap for a birthday gift for Stalin—and the jackpot is worth more than $5,000,000.

Shoes, socks, neckties, choice foods, wines, spirits, toys, dolls, books, automobiles, horses, motorcycles, airplanes, locomotives and even whole factories are among the presents converging upon the Kremlin from the satellite areas and far territories of the U.S.S.R.

With the gifts come all sorts of honors, pledges of special work, affirmations of loyalty and devotion, endearing greetings in the familiar communist pattern.

Long freight trains hauled gifts into Moscow. There were 70 cars—one for each birthday—from communist east Germany. A freight train of 11 cars left Warsaw with presents from Poland. The locomotive of the train was almost hidden by the huge portrait of Stalin it bore as it pulled out.

Many Useless.

Stalin probably will have little use of what he gets. A man of 70, for instance, would be a bit old with the 17 dolls he is getting from Italian communists, or riding a motor scooter from Milan, or an Italian racing bicycle, or a motorcycle and airplane from Prague, or a motor car and a buggy ride in a carriage from Sofia.

Presumably much of what Stalin is given will be redistributed. Even this will take a long time. It seems unlikely, for instance, that the shipment of nylon women's stockings he is getting from some French admirers will be much good for his personal use.

Numerous cities in the Soviet orbit have held public displays of the presents. In impoverished Warsaw, six halls were dedicated to hold all the gifts. In Riga, capital of the unwilling satellite, Latvia, eight halls were needed.

Poets, musicians and playwrights have turned out special birthday works in many languages. Festivities have been sent from communists in Britain, France and Sweden.

City To Tighten Regulations Of Nursing Homes

City health officials want to clamp down on some nursing and boarding homes in the city which aren't complying with health and safety regulations.

An ordinance was introduced by the city council Monday which specifies grounds on which the health department can revoke or suspend the license of a nursing home operator. Rules were suspended and the ordinance was read twice.

It will seek to insure cleaner and safer care for home patients.

A resolution was also passed which gives the health director power to enforce the city's rules and regulations already existing.

Rural Doctor Need Is Told

Dr. Frank D. Ryder, director of the state department of health, told members of the Nebraska Health Planning committee at the Y.M.C.A. Monday that rural areas of Nebraska are "crying for medical service."

He said that he felt the rural health of this state has been "neglected" and to combat this problem he has a project he wants to work out. Encouraging for the solution of the problem, according to Dr. Ryder, is the interest shown by state medical society members and local health councils.

Ryder said that while he has found in talking to farmers that they sometimes seem to favor socialized medicine, he is convinced that what most of them really want is simply medical service. If they could get this, he added, they would no longer be interested in government takeover of a hand.

The problem of getting doctors and nurses to rural communities can only be solved if communities offer them certain services he said. He added that young doctors are educated to practice with modern equipment and until communities "go down in their pockets" and provide these services, doctors will be hard to keep.

H. G. Gould, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting.

Berne To Speak.—Major Richard Berne will speak to the 9736th Air Reserve Squadron Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Lincoln hotel. Berne will speak on "The History and Development of the Military Air Transport Service."

Saturday Night Club Children's Costume Party—December 28, 1922

Soc. Ed's Note: Made no attempt to go into the identification of those shown in the pictures—There have been many too many changes.

We really had to dig deep for these pictures—away down deep—back to 1922 and beyond—But personally we think it was worth the effort—Those were gay days in Lincoln—post-war, but pre-depression—Everyone was riding the crest of the wave—everyone was happy, and apparently, everyone put his whole heart and soul into the business of a party.

Looked long and hard for some old Cotillion club pictures—but apparently Cotillion members didn't go in for UNsedate affairs—such as costume parties—

The first picture we ran across was a frolicsome Saturday Night club group—Apparently, it was a Christmas party, since it was held on December 28—Also another bit of evidence is the Christmas tree in the background of the lower picture. We learned, from reading The Sunday Star, January 1, 1922, that the Saturday Nighters had gone all out for a children's costume party—We're guessing that the ten members of the group—shown in the upper picture, were winners of prizes for the best costume—

Turning the pages to December 31, 1922, we found another interesting picture—This one was labelled "Pirates Ball," and again we find that the Saturday Night club members were out and about—

"Pirates Ball," December 31, 1922

There's Fun A-Brewing

THERE'S SO MUCH FUN BREWING ABOUT town that it is a little difficult to know where to begin—and certainly where to stop on days the chatter column has to be short—We know that Mrs. Lowell B. WE ALSO KNOW THAT Mr. and Mrs. Richard Woodward, and their three daughters, Leslie, Wendy, and Mary Elizabeth—came down from Omaha on Monday afternoon to spend the remainder of the holidays in Lincoln with Mr. Woodward's parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Mac Woodward.

ARRIVING ON FRIDAY, so we were told, will be Mr. and Mrs. George J. Fry (Jane Keefe), and their daughters, Janet and Judy, who come from Topeka, Kas., and Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Atkinson (Frances Keefe), and son Larry, of Pueblo, Colo., who are to be the holiday house guests of Mrs. Fry's and Mrs. Atkinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Keefe.

TODAY MISS CHARMA DAVIES, whose marriage to the Rev. John R. Lepke will be an event of Thursday afternoon, is announcing the members of the bridal party. For her matron of honor and only attendant Miss Davies has chosen her sister-in-law, Mrs. Philip M. Davies of Madison, Wis.

Joseph Ishikawa will serve the Rev. Lepke as best man, and the ushers will include Schuyler Davies, brother of the bride, Delavan, Wis., the Rev. George W. Fisk, Omaha, Earl Dyer and Waldo Dahlstedt.

The ceremony will take place on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Vine Congregational church, with the Rev.

George E. Manners of Omaha, and the Rev. C. Loyd Schubert solemnizing the ceremony.

COMPLIMENTING MISS DAVIES and the Rev. Lepke, the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor will be host and hostess at a buffet supper at their home on Wednesday following the late afternoon wedding rehearsal. Included in the guest list will be the bride's father, I. B. Davies of Delavan, Wis., and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lepke of Brooklyn, N. Y.

SANTA CLAUS WILL BE on hand Tuesday evening when the members of the Fifty Fifty club have their Christmas dinner dance at the Lincoln hotel. There will be gifts for everyone, we hear—but the gifts will eventually be turned over to the Community Chest for more permanent distribution.

In charge of the party is a committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Zimmer who are assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Don Albin, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Ferris, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guenzel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Longman, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stubbs, Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Streeter and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorne.

Guests of the club will include Mr. and Mrs. Homer Turner of Fremont; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. William Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. John Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Loerch, Miss Mary Lou Graham and Glenn Claybaugh.

AROUND THE TOWN

Miss Margaret Haubensak will be hostess to the members of CHAPTER 15 of P.E.O. on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Chairman of the social committee will be Mrs. G. D. Benton who will be assisted by Mrs. F. E. Burrell and Mrs. A. E. McClymonds.

A Christmas party will be featured and in charge of the program will be Mrs. J. R. Loudon and Mrs. W. S. Cromwell.

A dessert luncheon and Christmas program was held by the members of the W.R.P.C. club last Friday afternoon at the clubroom. The Christmas story was told by Mrs. Jack M. Cleaver with illustrations in pantomime by Mrs. F. N. Herzing and Mrs. A. C. McClure.

Also included in the program were songs by Mrs. E. S. Haynes, Mrs. H. E. Ware, Mrs. J. T. Miles and Mrs. D. Z. Marx, accompanied by Miss Vera Upton who also presented a program of piano numbers. The members exchanged gifts, later to be presented to patients at the state hospital, and donated food for a Christmas gift basket.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. R. A. Gustafson, Mrs. R. S. Hutchinson and Mrs. George Thurtle.

Mrs. John Mullinix, vice-president, presided at the meeting of ALPHA IOTA chapter of Beta Sigma Phi last Friday evening. At the conclusion of the business meeting, Miss Evelyn McNulty spoke on the topic, "Happiness Through Understanding People," after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Frank White and Miss Bertha Schleicher.

Homebound Pupils Guests At Program

The annual Christmas party for the homebound pupils of the Lincoln public schools was held from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, at the board of education building. Given each year by the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers, the affair was attended by sixty guests including the children and their parents.

Presented by the pupils, the program featured the Christmas story from St. Luke by Mary Hall; songs by Marvene Leopold; a movie, "Christmas Rhapsody," shown by R. W. Howland; and carols with Mrs. G. S. Willey assisting Miss Elizabeth Wright with the music.

Frank Snyder was in charge of the games, and following the program, Santa Claus presented gifts and treats to each pupil. A large Christmas tree was decorated by the Elliott pupils of Mrs. Evelyn Carlson, and greeting the guests at the door were Miss Merle Beattie and Miss Janet Smith. Mrs. L. T. Laase was in charge of the party and special guests were Mrs. Mae Hughes, homebound pupils teacher, and Mrs. L. W. Boyd, president of the council.

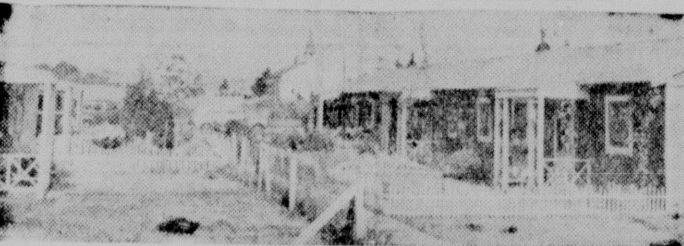

On Wednesday morning, Mrs. Laase, Mrs. Hughes and Dr. Gilbert S. Willey will visit the homes of those pupils who were unable to attend the party and will present them with their gifts and treats.

HUSKERVILLE

No one need be reminded, we are sure, that next Sunday is Christmas—The youngsters in Huskerville definitely are aware of the date for two reasons—the arrival of St. Nick—and NO Sunday school. Santa Claus is more or less taken for granted as a December 25 arrival—but the Sunday school is something else again—Reason for closed Sunday school rooms is that the teachers have gone away for the holidays—However, the adult population in Huskerville is expected in church as usual.

Last Saturday afternoon the small fry in Huskerville had a wonderful time—There was an all-children's party at the theater where a mammoth Christmas tree had been decorated, and which had been decked with favors, candy, apples and nuts—all donated by the Huskerville Woman's club. To make the afternoon a completely charming one for the youngsters, a Mickey Mouse Christmas cartoon, and an Abbott and Costello movie were shown. The remainder of the time was spent with games by the two hundred young guests.

But the young generation didn't monopolize the Saturday activity in the Huskerville area—Saturday evening the annual Christmas dance, arranged by the recreation committee, was held. Naturally there was a large attendance, and, in addition to having a wonderful time, the group had that satisfied feeling that comes with a worthwhile project—The proceeds from the party go toward the children's film fund.

The boys in Huskerville have been one up on the girls the past few weeks—They have had a recreation director all their own—one who thought up wonderful ideas for spare moments on Saturdays and after school—Now, however, the girls also have a recreation director—Miss

December Wedding Solemnized At Lincoln

The marriage of Jane Sutton, daughter of Mrs. Vallora B. Solts of Beatrice, to Dr. Houghton F. Elias, also of Beatrice, was solemnized Saturday evening, December 10, at the home of Judge and Mrs. F. W. Messmore in Lincoln. Christmas greens screened the fireplace to form the setting for the 6 o'clock ceremony, the lines of which were read by Judge Messmore in the presence of the members of the family.

Assisting the couple were Mrs. John Messmore, and Dr. Daniel McClerry of Beatrice.

Following the service, a wedding dinner was held at the University Club after which Dr. and Mrs. Elias left for a short wedding trip. They will be at home in Beatrice after January 1.

Mrs. Elias is a former student of Nebraska Wesleyan university, and Dr. Elias is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and of the Nebraska medical college at Omaha.

Joy Bird, who will be on hand every Saturday morning from 9:30 o'clock until 11:30 o'clock at the Huskerville theater. Miss Bird, a senior Girl Scout, will plan all sorts of handicraft and games for the feminine seven-to-twelve-year-olds.

Huskerville is all agog today—The outdoor lighting effects in Huskerville are to be judged this evening at 7 o'clock. Seven Huskerville families entered the contest.

Mme. de Vilmar Plans Annual Reception

Madame Laure de Vilmar will entertain at her traditional open house Sunday afternoon, January 1, at her home. The affair, to be held for the nineteenth consecutive year, will be between the hours of 3 o'clock and 6 o'clock, and a feature of the holiday decorations in the home will be a 10-foot tree appointed with over seven hundred fifty Christmas ornaments, a part of the extensive collection of the hostess.

Assisting Mme. de Vilmar at the reception will be her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schaefer, of Lyons, Colo., and her daughter, Mrs. Burl Richardson, of Richardson, and their children, Laure and Frank, all of whom will be the guests of their mother during the holiday season.

Two Santa Suits Stolen; Christmas Tree Is Stripped

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Dear Santa:

It would be a good idea for you to keep a sharp watch on your sleigh and pack when you come here Saturday night.

Two of your suits, plus two sets of long white whiskers, have been stolen from cars here in the past several days.

What's more, someone stripped an outdoor Christmas tree of all its lights.

Lloyd Kirkley and H. M. Baldwin of St. Michael's, Md., told police that Santa suits were taken from their parked automobiles here.

Five Major Changes In Wage, Hour Law Outlined At Meet

... Wendele Addresses 125 At Public Hearing

Lincoln businessmen and women found out Monday afternoon that if their establishments were covered by the minimum wage law previously, the new law, in most cases, will also cover them.

Duane Wendele, from the Kansas City wage-hour division of the U. S. department of labor, discussed briefly with the 125 persons present at the chamber of commerce the changes in the new law which is effective Jan. 25, 1950.

"The existing law has 42 changes, but these can be boiled down to five major changes. Of course, the true meaning of the new law," Wendele said, "will be determined later by judicial interpretation as violations and questions arise."

The five major changes listed by Wendele were the boost in hourly pay from a minimum of 40 cents an hour to 75 cents an hour; coverage, or who is exempt and who is not exempt from a minimum wage; a definition of "regular rate of pay"; broadening and extension of child labor laws; and functions of administration.

Wendele pointed out that the first change is purely a mathematical equation and not hard to figure out. He said the second major change, "coverage," is the one that gives the most trouble.

"Coverage is extended to include anyone engaged in interstate commerce or the production (manufacturing, mining, handling, transporting or any closely related process, directly essential to production) of goods for interstate commerce," Wendele said.

Coverage, Wendele stated, depends on the work of the employee and not the name or type of work of the employer. He remarked that some businesses may have some workers covered by the law and others not covered.

"However," Wendele said, "if your business is engaged in interstate commerce, all workers directly related to the process of carrying on that commerce would be covered. This would include office workers, advertising people, repair and maintenance workers and custodians, regardless of their title. The job they do depends on whether they are covered."

Exempt establishments are retail and service stores. In order to qualify for exemption, Wendele said, a retail store must do one-half of its business in the state; 75 per cent of its goods must not be for resale; and 70 per cent of its dollar volume must be realized as retail income.

"The former test for a retail establishment was whether or not it produced goods. Now," Wendele said, "a store can produce if 85 per cent of its goods are sold retail in the state. Some small bakeries and candy manufacturers formerly covered will be exempt under the new law."

Some of the industries with exempt employees are forestry and logging, if no more than 12 loggers are employed; agriculture, mostly the same as before, but milk added to list of commodities of creamery exemption; outside buyers of poultry, cream, eggs and milk, which would include hatcheries; small newspapers, daily, semi-weekly or weekly with a circulation less than 4,000; switchboard operators with 750 stations or less; taxicab drivers; newspaper carriers; airline employees in that they are not given overtime but are given a minimum wage; and truck line employees.

Child Labor Laws.

"Oppressive child labor is directly prohibited, which closes a loophole in the existing law. Employers could previously escape liabilities by withholding goods from shipment in commerce for a period of time if they had employed oppressive child labor."

"Oppressive child labor means the employment of children under 16 in general and the employment of boys and girls under 18 in designated hazardous occupations. The new law covers children employed in the production of goods for commerce and interstate commerce," Wendele said.

For information, Wendele suggested writing to the Wage-Hour Division, U. S. department of Labor, 911 Walnut street, Kansas City, Mo. He stressed the point that all particulars and information must be given.

Wendele was accompanied by James Arnold, Omaha, and R. J. Blumenthal, both from the Omaha office of the wage-hour division. B. I. Noble, Lincoln, chairman of the chamber of commerce industrial committee, introduced the speaker.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
